Reapportionment Bills Will Be Rushed From Committees in Both Houses
Socialists Start Movement to Oppose Los Angeles Registration Validation

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 4.—With the call early today for a special meeting of the assembly reapportionment committee to consider the Randall bill it was indicated that reapportionment would be rushed by the State Legislature during the early part of the week and that recommendations regarding the Thompson and Randall bills could be expected by Wednesday or Thursday. The Senate committee will take up the former measure at a special meeting late today. The issue has now become clearly defined, the Randall bill favoring the country and the Thompson bill the city districts. A third bill, introduced by Assemblyman Hamilton, is before the Assembly reapportionment committee. It differs slightly from the Randall measure. A movement was begun by prominent socialists of Sacramento last night to contest the validation of the Los Angeles registration, legalized by the passage of an emergency measure last week. Contending that practically all the votes validated are Alexander votes, a conference was held at the residence of Dr. A. E. Briggs and plans discussed for taking court action. The plan under consideration today to telegraph the text of the validation measure to Job Harrison with the suggestion that he ask for an injunction against the validation of the names questioned. Dr. Briggs said there was little likelihood of such action being taken.

WOULD LENGTHEN TERMS.
Assemblyman Hamilton of Sonoma county introduced a resolution in the Assembly today proposing a constitutional amendment increasing the terms of state assemblymen from two to four years. The resolution is offered as a substitute for the resolution introduced by Assemblyman

Rep. Littleton of New York Defends Stand on Trusts; Attacks Enemies
Hits at Bryan and Anti-Trust League Before Crowded Galleries

Today in Congress
WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—Senate: Convened at noon. Committee appointed to notify the President that Congress was in session. Senators Smith of Georgia and Gardner of Maine sworn in. Senator Curtis elected to serve as president pro tempore until December 12. Meeting hour fixed for 2 p. m. daily. Adjourned at 12:17 p. m. until Tuesday at 2 p. m.
House: Convened at noon. Committee to notify the President that Congress was in session was appointed. Representative Littleton, on point of personal privilege, answered attacks on his charging him with being a "steel trust ally." Estimates amounting to $745,834,563 for the fiscal year were submitted for appropriation legislation.
WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—Both houses of the Sixty-second Congress convened at noon today. Practically every member of each House was in his seat. The galleries were crowded and hundreds of persons were unable to gain admission. The expected speech of Representative Littleton of New York regarding the steel trust question was the sensational incident featuring the opening day. There was a flurry in the House just before it was called to order, caused by the distribution of copies of a newspaper which featured a mass meeting at which Representative Littleton and Young were attacked by Henry B. Martin of the so-called American Anti-Trust League. A copy was laid on the desk of each member of the House. Littleton

Captain Petersen Refuses to Discuss Work of Police in Connection With 'Ring'
Attacks on Kendall Mill, at Second and Grove, Recalled by McNamara Case

Captain of Inspectors Walter J. Petersen preserved a mysterious silence this morning when asked concerning the work of his men in connection with the "dynamite ring" whose operations may be brought to light as a result of the confessions of the McNamara brothers in Los Angeles.
"I would not discuss this matter," declared Petersen this morning when asked about his co-operation with the federal officials in the investigation into the various activities of the "inner circle." "This is a matter which it would be manifestly unwise to discuss at this time. It has been known that the department had made investigations in this connection in the past and that we have been continually on the watch. We are no more active today than we have been, and further than that I should prefer not to say."
Asked whether the four attempts to blow up the lumber mill owned by Alpheus H. Kendall at Second and Grove streets had been connected with the operations of the "dynamite ring," Captain Petersen again refused to discuss the matter.
On the night of Aug. 20, 1910, the mill of the Pacific Coast Lumber & Milling Company was wrecked by dynamite placed under the floor of the guing-room. The explosion occurred shortly before midnight, and George Bower, the night watchman, escaped with his life only as a result of the fact that he was in the portion of the building farthest removed from the center of the explosion. The damage amounted to about $12,000 from the explosion and a small fire which followed.
A careful examination was made of the place by powder experts, and it was determined that there could be no doubt that the place was blown up by dynamite. The police investigated the case, and although it was intimated that certain facts leading the police to fix upon certain persons as connected with the crime, no arrests were made, and the

ARREST OF AN ATTORNEY FOR M'NAMARA BROTHERS RUMORED Lawyer to Be Jailed Before the Day Is Over, Is Report That Spreads in Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 4.—It was rumored today that an arrest of one of the attorneys for the McNamara brothers would be made before the day was over. Attorney Darrow and Lecompte Davis were closeted with the McNamara brothers until 1 o'clock today. Cyrus McNutt and Jos. Scott, of the defense, were at their offices. Job Harrison, also attorney for the defense and Socialist candidate for Mayor, was at his home.
The district attorney's office denied that there was an intention to make any arrests as far as they were concerned. It was pointed out that a civil case was pending against the defense in which a local engineer was charging that he had not been paid for certain drawings he had made, and it was thought possible that if the district attorney's office did not intend to implicate the McNamara attorneys, they might be involved in the civil suit.
Attorney Darrow returned to his office at 1:25 and was told of the rumors that warrants for the arrests of the attorneys had been issued.
"Absolutely nothing to it," he declared.

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—John D. Rockefeller resigned today as director and president of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey. John D. Archibald was elected to succeed Rockefeller. A majority of the officers and directors who for years have been associated with Rockefeller in the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey also handed in their resignations. These included: Wm. Rockefeller, as vice-president and director; C. M. Pratt, as vice-president; Wm. G. Rockefeller, as assistant treasurer; H. C. Folger, Jr., as secretary; assistant treasurer and directors H. M. State Expects to Have Schmidt and Kaplan Behind Bars Before Many Hours Case Against Official Accused of Tampering With Jury Postponed One Week; More Arrests Threatened UNIONS DEMAND THE EXTREME PENALTY

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 4.—District Attorney John D. Fredericks today informed the Associated Press that Bert H. Franklin, a detective employed by the McNamara defense, and now under arrest on a charge of attempting to bribe George N. Lockwood, a venireman, with $4000, actually paid to Robert F. Bain, the first sworn juror in the case, $400 and promised $3500 more at the end of the trial if he would vote for acquittal or secure a disagreement of the jury. The District Attorney produced a sworn copy of testimony taken from Mrs. Robert F. Bain, wife of the juror, in his office last Friday. Mrs. Bain not only told of the first meeting, but related in detail how Franklin came to her house on October 6, a few days before her husband was summoned to serve on the jury.

ONE OTHER CASE.
The District Attorney declared that only one more case of bribery, so far as he knew, had not yet been uncovered and that the amounts in it had been similar to the Lockwood and Bain cases, so that in all about $12,000 was promised by the defense to influence jurymen. He declared that examination of witnesses in the Franklin case would reveal the details of the alleged bribes in which Franklin participated. He declared that at present no more arrests were intended, but that court revelations might make it necessary to apprehend persons upon whose orders Franklin is supposed to have acted.

The District Attorney showed a copy of the sworn statement to an Associated Press representative. It was a stenographic report of the conference between Mrs. Bain and a J. A. Hill, a Deputy Assistant District Attorney, last Friday, and to it Mrs. Dora F. Bain signed her name. It begins:
Mr. Hill—"Have you ever met Bert H. Franklin?"
Mrs. Bain—"Yes; on October 8."
Mr. Hill—"Give us the whole history, beginning with your connection, prior to October 8."
Mrs. Bain—"On Friday, October 6, I got a card from one of my neighbors with a telephone number on it. I went over to one of my neighbors and rang up the number. I said: 'This is Mrs. Bain.' I was told that Mr. Franklin was not in, but that he would ring us up. I said 'He cannot ring us up, as I am at my neighbor's house.' The woman at the other end said she would tell him when he came in. Then I went home. Later in the afternoon a man came in an automobile. I did not know then who it was. He said he wanted to speak to me. He wanted to know where Mr. Bain was and I told him, and he wanted to know when he would get back.

FAILED TO REMEMBER HIM.
"He said: 'I am Bert Franklin; don't you remember me?' I said: 'No, that I would not have remembered him, and he said: 'Don't you remember, I met you quite a while ago?' Then he asked about Mrs. Brainard and if she was married. He said he had been here several times and had not found me at home. He then talked about a newspaper contest over subscriptions, and he got to talking about our house. I told him we had bought the home for $1800 and were paying $15 per month. I said: 'When Mr. Bain is 70 he will get more pension money.' 'Well,' he said, 'I think, Mrs. Bain, I can help you. I think I can put you and Bob in a position to pay for your little home and live easy for the rest of your life.'"
"I said: 'You can?'; he says, 'Yes.' I said, 'How is that?'; and he said, 'I know that Bob has always been an honest man. I have worked by the side of him and I know him well; and I, too, have always been honest. My record shows that. I think, though, I can put Bob in a position to make it easy for him.' He kind of hesitated and did not seem to know how to get at it, and then he finally said, 'You know what I mean?' I said, 'No; unless you want him to do election work.' He said, 'No, not that. You

Suit Brought to Dissolve National Cash Register Co.

CINCINNATI, Dec. 4.—A suit was filed in the United States circuit court here today by United States District Attorney Sherman Patterson against the National Cash Register Company of Dayton, Ohio, charging the company with being a trust in that it was engaged in a conspiracy to restrain commerce in the sale and manufacture of cash registers.

LIQUOR-MADDENED MAN HACKS MOTHER TO DEATH Gus Arrivey Kills Aged Woman and Drags Her Body Around House

STOCKTON, Dec. 4.—Crazed by liquor, which he declared was crawling over his head, the murderer was arrested this morning in a clump of tall weeds about two blocks from the house.
He was barefooted and the condition of his clothing showed that he had been hiding in the weeds all night. He admitted to the chief of police that he had slain his mother, explaining that a man in an alrship had told him to do it.
Mrs. Arrivey was sixty-nine years of age and was a widow. She was employed in a laundry.

Supreme Court Considers Packers' Appeal for Stay

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—The Supreme Court of the United States took under consideration today the application of counsel for the Chicago beef packers for a stay of their trial in the United States District Court at Chicago on charges of criminally violating the Sherman anti-trust law. A stay and bail was asked until the court could pass on the constitutionality of the Sherman anti-trust law as a criminal statute.

Longworth's statement was made in reply to Chairman Brown of the Republican executive committee of Ohio, who said the State preferred Roosevelt to Taft or La Follette.

Tribune Scoops Contemporaries

Daily (Martinez) Gazette. (December 2, 1911.)
The OAKLAND TRIBUNE was the only one of the San Francisco or Oakland papers to reach this city Friday evening with the news of the confession of the McNamara brothers in Los Angeles. The extra of THE TRIBUNE arrived in the mail on train No. 50 at 5 o'clock. All other evening papers carried stories of the day's proceedings, but they were "scooped" on the event which startled the world. On the 8:24 train other and later editions of the papers arrived, but THE TRIBUNE had a good three hours' start of its competitors in spreading the news of the confession.

Big Government Victory In Alaska Fraud Cases

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—The government won a sweeping victory in its campaign against the Alaska coal land frauds when the Supreme Court of the United States decided that a person or association is limited to one coal land entry in Alaska. Accordingly the court held valid the indictment charging Charles F. Munday and Archie W. Shields with land fraud conspiracy.

She is strong and healthy now, with a good healthy color in her face which she never had before. It only took one bottle of Vinol to do this for her. She likes the taste of Vinol, too."

BOHEMIANS FEAST
JAMES ROLPH JR.

Blazing Plum Pudding Carried Into Darkened Room Is One of Features.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 4.—A blazing plum pudding which made its entrance into the banquet hall amid semidarkness was one brilliant feature of the breakfast given at the Bohemian Club yesterday by Raphael Well in honor of Mayor-elect James Rolph Jr.

The red room, appropriately decorated, was the setting for the feast. Twenty-seven guests, most of whom represented the old guard of the club, were present. The novel entrance of the pudding was a pleasant and ingenious surprise. The room was thrown in deep shadow, from the depths of which the savory dish emerged, diffusing agreeable odors and picturesque illumination. The gloom of the room was not reflected in the smiling faces of the guests.

The breakfast was one of a series given by the older members of the club. Among the distinguished diners was Clay M. Green, the playwright, a member of the Bohemian, and the Lambie club, who has just returned to San Francisco after an absence of ten years in New York.

The other guests were as follows: James Rolph Jr., Raphael Well, Pierre Troncy, A. Barnard, John Landers, Judge Coffey, William Sprue, Colonel Hayes, Hugh Burke, Gavin McNab, Joseph Redding, Samuel Shortridge, Harry Brady, David Bush, Fred Greenwood, Courtney Ford, Judge Harrison, Harry Francis, Edmund Goldstein, Henry Fayot, Frank Unger, Judge Campbell, F. Verdier, M. Coffey, Dr. E. B. Swan.

'THE STRONGEST LINK' IS

BERT HOWARD and EFFIE LAWRENCE, who appear in "The Stage Manager" at the Bell Theater.

One of the most notable actors in vaudeville in one of the greatest vehicles, "The Strongest Link," made a deep and lasting impression on the four big audiences at the Bell Theater yesterday. Harry First and Florence Hadley and company deserve all the encomiums that were heaped upon them, for in the portrayal of "The Strongest Link" they reached pinnacles and touched springs that made their presentation of the story of the rich Hebrew merchant who finds his daughter to lose a wife the greatest bit of acting it has been the fortune of any local vaudeville audience to witness in many months.

With eyes wet and hands enthusiastically applauding, every audience of Sunday called First and his associate players before the curtain again and again. It truly proved a great sketch by a great company.

ONE OF CRESSY'S.
Will Cressy collaborated with Mr. Howard in the writing of "The Stage Manager," which is recommendation enough for its sterling qualities. Will Cressy has written a number of very successful vaudeville plays and "The Stage Manager" proves to be one of Cressy's best comedy efforts. Howard represents the snarling, cynical stage manager, while Miss Lawrence is the person afflicted with historic ambition, which the public have failed to grasp. "Sweeps" is a clean part, done by a broom.

MOST IMPORTANT SESSION
SINCE WAR, IS PREDICTION

Host of Big Questions to Be Brought Up
by U. S. House and Senate

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—"The most important session since the Civil War" is the prediction made by many Democratic leaders for the first regular session of the Sixty-second Congress, which opened today.

"Stirring days ahead," are forecast by Republican members, and on both sides of the 'big party' line members in the House and Senate are drawn up to fight out weighty problems of legislation in a session that will lead up to the 'Presidential campaign' of 1912.

Of importance as to the bearing it will have on the approaching political contest in the nation, of particular interest because of party differences—Republicans and insurgents on the Republican side, reactionaries and progressives among the Democrats—and of unusual significance because of the heavy legislative program, it is at least certain that this will be one of the liveliest sessions of Congress in many years.

With the gavel falling in the House and the Senate at noon, the tariff and the trusts stood out as the most important subjects for legislation with a 'big fight' assured in both houses. Many other great questions confronting the Congress, all of them to be approached vigorously, include monetary reform, ratification of arbitration treaties with Great Britain and France, and the Pan American treaty with Nicaragua and Honduras. Alaskan legislation, the election of Senators by direct vote of the people, pension bills and the regular and permanent annual appropriations, to be heard before the session this time in the House by a Democratic committee.

AND POLITICS, TOO.
While the legislative struggles are in progress, politics is certain not to be overshadowed. With the Democrats looking ahead with anxious hope for triumph at the polls next November, and insurgents on the Republican side, and the Democrats' heavy legislative program, it is at least certain that this will be one of the liveliest sessions of Congress in many years.

With the gavel falling in the House and the Senate at noon, the tariff and the trusts stood out as the most important subjects for legislation with a 'big fight' assured in both houses.

To enliven the political interest in both houses there are candidates for the Presidency casting their shadows across the horizon.

Champ Clark, the Speaker of the House, already considered among the Democratic possibilities, may at any time make Presidential pronouncement to his colleagues; and Representative Oscar W. Underwood of Alabama, the Democratic floor leader, also is talked of throughout the country as Presidential contender.

Taft and La Follette.

In the Senate, La Follette already has been proclaimed by progressive Republicans as their choice to wrest the nomination from Taft.

In the House the political interest will be further complicated by the attitude of Bryan, who has quarreled with Underwood and now criticizes Speaker Clark in what many Democrats declare is an effort to cause a breach between the Speaker and the majority leader of the House.

The tariff legislative program will follow the long awaited report of the tariff board which is expected to submit the result of its investigations on wool and cotton before the holidays. The Ways and Means Committee of the House, however, under the direction of Chairman Underwood, will begin at once the preparation of new tariff bills. Throughout the recess a force of clerks and experts have been at work preparing for the committee.

President Taft has given his pledge that, when the tariff board submits its report on the woolen and cotton schedules it will be his pleasure to make tariff recommendations to Congress. The subject will be treated in a special message.

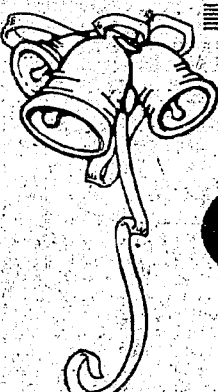

Meantime, however, the Ways and Means Committee will begin preparation of vaudeville as "The Medley Man in Brown." He is one of the cleverest dancers on the American stage. He was over the Sullivan & Considine circuit several years ago doing a double turn, but has since gone out for himself. He was so good that he had no trouble in being booked over the circuit again. His dancing strikes a new note in the art of vaudeville.

CLARK IN VAUDEVILLE.
Edward Clark, the actor-author who recently starred in "The Winning Widows," has forsaken the legitimate for vaudeville and is seen at the Bell now in an entertaining bit of character impersonations. His first character is that of an old man—that of an aged, decrepit bachelor. Then he portrays a street urchin, together with the story of being driven into the street, etc. During this bit he sings a song that is said to be a gem. Next is that of a chorus girl waiting for a taxi cab. During the wait he injects some brilliant humor, about the troubles of getting a taxi when you want it.

As a juggler, Chas. Montrell has few peers and over in London, where he has been for some time, he proved a great favorite. His reception in Oakland proved to be just as enthusiastic, for his work is away above the average while his blackface assistant furnished plenty of comedy.

The Two Roses offer a fairly refined musical novelty and the motion pictures prove unusually interesting this week.

of revised schedules, to exclude wool, cotton, iron and steel products, sugar and other foodstuffs. An important schedule dealing with the sugar schedule, and in dealing with this the House and the Ways and Means Committee will be guided somewhat by the report of the special committee of inquiry into the American Sugar Refining Company, which is expected to report early in the session.

Conspicuous in the records of the Congress will be the coming vigorous debates. The fight to amend the Sherman anti-trust law already is on. In the House the question will be first considered by the committee on judiciary. This committee has determined also to report bills amending the injunction statutes and the contempt statutes, the latter to include provision for trial by jury in cases of indirect contempt. These will be pressed for passage before adjournment.

The committee has on hand half a dozen bills pending amendment to the Sherman anti-trust law. The most recent bill was drafted by Representative Henry of Texas, providing for penal terms for violators of the trust laws and designed to eliminate from the Sherman law the rule of reason as interpreted by the Supreme Court. Some sort of bill is certain to come from the committee bearing on this problem. In the Senate the trust question is under consideration in the hearings before the committee on Interstate Commerce which will continue for some time.

STEEL INQUIRY.
In line with the trust question will be the determination of the fate of the House special committee of inquiry into the United States Steel Corporation. The steel corporation has protested against continuation of the hearing in view of the filing of the government suit against it. The question is certain to be brought up in the House for settlement within a few days and it will provoke a lively controversy.

As a part of the trust legislative plan, President Taft has suggested a federal incorporation act. He has stated his belief that a statute might be drawn not as an amendment to the anti-trust law, to furnish protection which would induce companies engaged chiefly in interstate trade, to agree to government supervision of their transactions.

The National Monetary Commission will submit the report of its long and exhaustive inquiry by January 8. The central reserve bank plan advocated by former Senator Nelson W. Aldrich, has been practically unanimously endorsed by the American Bankers Association. Currency reform has provoked a variety of differing opinions before any legislation is enacted.

LORIMER CASE.
Of unusual interest in the Senate will be the continuance of the inquiry into the right of Senator Lorimer of Illinois to retain his seat. Hearings in the case which have been going on in Chicago since October will be resumed here tomorrow (December 5).

Conservation policies are to be urged on Congress. Included in this are water power, coal, phosphate, oil and gas and other resources. Early in the session the National Waterways Commission will report recommendations. A report also will be made by the securities commission relating to railways and bonds and the special postal commission, which has held sessions in Washington, New York and St. Louis, also will report. The Employers' Liability Commission has formulated a report to submit to Congress.

Lively discussions are expected in both houses on the immigration laws, the ratification of the treaty of 1932 between the United States and Russia, campaign publicity, and a bill proposing legislative power to be conferred upon the territory of Alaska. An effort also may be made to abolish the new court of commerce.

The personnel of the House and Senate has changed somewhat, the Democrats of the House having gained one more in their majority. There are five new members of the House, Daniel V. Stephens (Dem.) of Nebraska; Joseph A. Taggart (Dem.) of Kansas; Kenneth D. McKellar (Dem.) of Tennessee; W. D. Almy (Rep.) of Pennsylvania; and William J. Browning (Rep.) of New Jersey. There is one vacancy in the House, caused by the death of Representative E. H. Madison (Rep.) of Kansas.

SUCCEEDS FRYE.
Obediah Gardner of Maine succeeds the late Senator Frye in the Senate, and Hoke Smith comes to the Senate from Georgia. Renewal of the effort to elect a president pro tempore of the Senate in place of Mr. Frye, will be made. Senator Bacon was the leading candidate of the Democrats and Senator Gallinger, the leader of the regular Republicans, at the last session. Senator Clapp was the choice of the insurgent Republicans.

In the House an interesting feature of the session in all probability will be the abolition of the secret caucus by the Democratic majority.

Economy will continue to be the Democratic "watchword" in the House. In this connection all the investigations into government departments by the House committees on expenditures are to be continued and recommendations are to be made along lines of economy for each department of the government.

Economy, it is said, will guide the appropriations committee. The Democratic committee in many years to get a "whack" at the big appropriation supply bills, including the so-called "pork barrels." Representative Fitzgerald of New York is the chairman of the committee which will undertake the task of paring down the appropriations which for the year of 1911-1912 amounted to $1,025,287,505.81.

Phoebe got a house for Christmas

Tug Warburton's father gave Phoebe a house for Christmas, either bought or built. Phoebe started out to find the sort of house she wanted. She tells about it herself, about her change in standards of house building, as she chased this question of taste around the circle, as a cat chases its tail, and finally came out at the house she was born in and lived in all her life. It is not only amusing as a story, but Phoebe goes through all of the stages that we all go through before we land upon the safe ground of good taste in house and furniture.

BIG DEFICIT FACED BY AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 4.—Although reports given out at the close of the State Fair this year were that the State Agricultural Society had taken in sufficient funds to meet its expenses, it now finds itself facing a deficit of at least $7500, and the special session of the legislature is to be asked to pass a bill to make up this deficiency. The action of the State Board of Control in the matter is awaited with interest, and it will probably investigate the financial affairs of the society before acting. It is understood that this board will exercise a certain amount of supervision over the affairs of the Agricultural Society in the future.

LIBRARY FOR SEBASTOPOL. SEBASTOPOL, Dec. 3.—Andrew Carnegie will give this city the sum of $7500 for the erection of a public library here. For some time past efforts have been made to interest the Laid of Skibo in the construction of a public library building here, and at last the efforts have been successful. Sebastopol will agree to make an annual appropriation sufficiently large to meet the requirements of Carnegie.

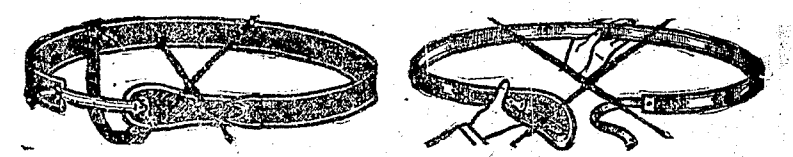

REBELS SHOT WITHOUT SEMBLANCE OF TRIAL

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 4.—Thirteen insurgents, captured Friday at Hualco, Yucatan, after their companions had been routed by state troops, were shot without the formality of trial, says a dispatch to El Imparcial. Two revolutionary bands are operating not far from Merida, the capital of Yucatan. One is led by Fernando Mateo Estrada, a newspaper man, and the other by Humberto Leon, formerly a barber of Merida. Both claim to be working for the Reyista cause, and Estrada's men are giving provisional receipts for property appropriated, which are to be redeemed after the triumph of the Reyes revolution.

AVIATOR TED SCHRIVER KILLED IN PORTO RICO

SAN JUAN, P. R., Dec. 4.—Ted Schriever, the American aviator, was killed during a flight at Ponce Saturday. He was making a flight over that city in a biplane, when he lost control of the machine while making a turn, fell two hundred feet, and died a few minutes after he struck the ground.

Trusses Like These Are a Crime

Get Rid of Elastic Bands, Springs and Leg-Straps. Such Harness Has Forced Thousands to Undergo Dangerous Operations.

Trusses like those shown above—the belt and leg-strap, elastic and spring contraptions sold by drug stores, surgical instrument houses and many other places—make life miserable for everybody who wears them.

And—even when drawn so tight you can scarcely stand to keep them on—they do no good whatever. Instead, they often do immense harm—they squeeze the rupture, often causing strangulation—dig into the pelvic bone in front—press against the sensitive spinal column at the back.

The Plain Truth Is This. Rupture—as explained in our free booklet—can't be relieved or cured—can't even be kept from growing worse—unless constantly held in place. Just as a broken bone can't "knit" unless the parts are held securely together.

And—just as a bandage or splint is the only way a broken bone can be held—the right kind of truss is the only thing in the world that can keep a rupture from coming out.

What a difference it will make when you get that kind of truss.

And you can get exactly that kind of truss—without risking a cent of your money.

It's the famous Clute Truss or Clute Automatic Massager. Far more than a truss—far more than merely a device for holding the rupture in place. So different from everything else for rupture that it has received 15 separate patents. Thousands say it is as comfortable as your clothing.

No belt, elastic belt or springs around your waist, and no leg-strap—nothing to pinch, chafe, squeeze or bind. Self-regulating, self-adjusting. It is held in position by suction—no broken bone can't run in existence that is honestly guaranteed never to let the rupture come out.

We'll give you 60 days' time to test it—if it doesn't keep your rupture from coming out, when you are working and at all other times, we'll refund you a cent and let you know about it. Put an end to the trouble you've heretofore had with your rupture—if you don't get better rightaway—then the truss won't cost you a cent.

How It Strengthens and Heals. In addition to holding the rupture, the Clute Truss or Clute Automatic Massager is constantly giving a soothing, strengthening massage to the muscles of the abdomen.

All automatically—the massage goes on all day long, all without any attention whatever from you.

This massage—which strengthens just as exercise strengthens a weak arm—is so remarkably beneficial—so remarkably curative—that 100 cases out of every 200 rupture begins to get better from the day a Clute Truss is put on.

The World's Greatest Book On Rupture. Don't go on letting your rupture get worse—don't spend a cent on account of your rupture until you get our book of advice—which two cents for a stamp—or a penny for a postal—will bring you.

This remarkable book—cloth-bound, 32 pages, 21 separate articles, 9 photographs—pictures—tells you our 40 years' experience in this long to find out all the facts we've put in it.

It explains the dangers of operations and why they don't always cure to stay cured. Tells you how the protection of the public—drug stores should not be allowed to sell trusses.

Explains why belt, spring and elastic trusses can do no good. Explains the "Clute" method—"appliances," "plasters," etc. Tells you all about the Clute Truss—just how it holds—how it gives the curing massage—how it keeps the rupture from coming out. Tells you how you can get it on 60 days' trial—and gives names and addresses of over 4000 people who have used it. Tells you how to get it. Write for it today—don't put it off—this book may be the means of adding many years to your life and of restoring you to full strength and usefulness.

WOMEN IN THE NEWS HEAPS ABUSE ON FATHER FOR SHOOTING

Mrs. Luisa Miglio Declares Parent's Protection Exposed Her to Suspicion.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 4.—Showing far more sympathy for the man than for the woman who shot her father, Mrs. Luisa Miglio, in whose company Frank Pera was shot by Sarvino Melnarde in Grant avenue Saturday night, yesterday visited Pera at the German hospital where he is suffering from bullet wounds, but probably will recover. Melnarde is in the city prison.

Mrs. Miglio, slender and pretty, protested that her father had no cause to shoot Pera. She declared that she and the young man had been friends for many years. She said she left her husband in Calumet, Mich., where Pera also left a wife, and that Pera's wife and her husband understood Pera's regard and contempt for her. She said she had planned getting a divorce from her husband because of cruelty. That she, intended marrying Pera she would not admit, but after the shooting several affectionate letters signed by "Lu" were found in Pera's pockets. These indicate that Pera had left Michigan to be with Mrs. Miglio.

The daughter was bitter against her father, whom she charged with having needlessly exposed her to insult and suspicion. Her wrath took the shape of an accusation that Melnarde once killed a man with a club in a Swiss canton.

This charge was denied by Melnarde. Acting upon the girl's statement the local police will get in touch with the Italian officials at San Giorgio to ascertain if Melnarde is wanted there.

Mrs. Miglio has a 3-year-old daughter here, and it is said that Pera has a child in Calumet.

Victim of Fiend
FRESNO, Dec. 4.—As Mrs. John H. Phillips of 2229 Illinois avenue stepped on her back porch last evening she was attacked by an unidentified man. Mrs. Phillips was overpowered and thrown to the floor. A handkerchief was used as a gag. The man then raped her.

Neighbors, hearing the sound of the struggle, rushed into the house, but the man escaped. The police followed his tracks in an alley, but they were lost in the deep sand. Mrs. Phillips was alone in the house at the time of the attack. Her husband was down town and she had sent her children to a neighbor's house and intended to follow them. She had locked the front door and was leaving through the rear door when attacked. She said that her assailant was a Mexican or an Indian.

Escorts Emma

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Dec. 4.—The Harvard undergraduate body received a decided jolt yesterday when Samuel Atkins Elliot, Jr., grandson of Harvard's illustrious ex-president, walked into the spacious dining room of Harvard Union with Miss Emma Goldman, the noted exponent of Anarchistic principles, leaning upon his arm. With the pair came Dr. George M. Stratton, the professor of Harvard, Socialist, who they organized, and Miss Goldman promised Elliot that she would return to Cambridge in the near future and address the members of the Harvard Socialist Club, of which organization Elliot is secretary.

The party, with Miss Goldman seated at the head of the table in the chair of honor, sat at one of the most conspicuous tables in the hall. The other diners were taken completely by surprise, and although some left their places, the majority remained to look and listen.

Miss Goldman promised Elliot that she would return to Cambridge in the near future and address the members of the Harvard Socialist Club, of which organization Elliot is secretary.

May Lose Arm

SAN RAFAEL, Dec. 4.—It may not be necessary to amputate the right arm of Mr. George M. Stratton, the professor of California, who was injured in a runaway accident on the Bolinas grade Friday evening.

The fracture of the arm was serious, but Doctor Hewitt, who is attending the injured woman, has not given up hope of saving the limb.

Professor and Mrs. Stratton were hurt when two horses attached to a stagecoach running between San Rafael and Bolinas, took fright and ran away. The coach was overturned. Professor Stratton escaped with a few bruises.

Which?

RALEIGH, N. C., Dec. 4.—Demanding to know whether they are "teachers" or "just females," the women of the North Carolina Teachers' Assembly have made what is believed to have been the first real movement for enfranchising women in this state. The rights of women teachers to investigate, to hold administrative offices in both county and city.

If You Have Scalp or Hair Trouble, Take Advantage of This Offer.

We could not afford to so strongly endorse Rexall's "93" Hair Tonic and continue to sell it as we do, if we were not certain that it would do all we claim it will. Should our enthusiasm carry us away, and Rexall's "93" Hair Tonic not give entire satisfaction to the users they would lose faith in us and our statements and in consequence our business prestige would suffer.

The Clothes That Must Be Right

Ready-made clothes haven't taken the place of merchant tailoring any more than the camera has supplanted the miniature painter. Art disappears when factory methods succeed individual craftsmanship. Very good clothes must be put together by hand and hand-labor is always apparent. The merchant tailor builds every garment for the man who is to wear it—only for him, only for his figure. Only the merchant tailor can create a presentable dress-suit, because no coat in a man's wardrobe must fit in so many places or can mis-fit in so many parts of the figure. Loosely hanging garments give the ready-maker his best opportunity—he can't possibly compete with the first-rate tailor in function garments. The same instinct that leads the man of culture to sit for a portrait instead of ordering a crayon enlargement of his photograph, sends a gentleman to the make-to-order shop.

MRS. FARRAR HIDES FROM HER FRIENDS

Wife of Disgraced Chaplain Gives Away All Household Goods.

LONDON, Dec. 4.—Mrs. Frederick Percival Farrar, wife of the Rev. Frederick Percival Farrar, returned to Sandringham a few days ago and gave away all her household goods. Her husband, whose appointment as domestic chaplain to King George and to the queen mother, Alexandra, were canceled recently, has not been heard from, but he is believed to have gone to France and will proceed to America.

Mrs. Farrar has again left Sandringham, but her plans for the future are not known. Mrs. Farrar was Miss Nora Davis of Philadelphia and the sister of Richard Harding Davis, who was called to London by a telegram from his sister, saying she was in distress.

FUGITIVES ARE TAKEN BACK TO PENNSYLVANIA

BAKERSFIELD, Dec. 4.—Wanted as fugitives from justice in Pennsylvania, from which they fled less than two months ago to escape trials on indictments for arson, burglary and robbery, Lowry Hoffman, alias John Johnson, and Clifford Matthews, alias Clifford Henderson, both farmers, have been captured in this city by local and Pennsylvania peace officers. The two prisoners were taken back today. Hoffman's wife and four children will accompany them. Governor Johnson honored requisition papers for the two fugitives last Wednesday.

VALLEJO, Dec. 4.—The Merchants' Association banquet in honor of the Chamber of Commerce has been set for Tuesday evening, December 5, and is being given with the idea of getting all the factions of the city together for the betterment of Vallejo and the navy yard. In addition to representatives of the Chamber of Commerce and Merchants' Association, the city officials, a number of the union labor leaders and other prominent citizens will be present.

GLOBE MINER KILLS HIMSELF

GLOBE, ARIZ., Dec. 4.—Fred Beck, 58 years old, a well-known miner, committed suicide yesterday in a room at the Webster House. Despondency was ascribed as the cause of his act.

SAN JOSE RUNAWAY COUPLE POLICE GUESTS

RENO, Dec. 4.—Deputy Sheriff Baker of San Jose, Cal., arrived yesterday, bearing extradition papers for Edmund Buchnien and Mary Grampoll, who have been detained here for the last week. The couple were arrested a week ago in compliance with telegraphic instructions from the San Jose officials.

Buchnien and the Grampoll girl, who is said to be but fourteen years old, left San Jose together and came to this city for the purpose of being married. They secured a room in a down town lodging house, where they remained for two days prior to their arrest. The day before they were taken into custody Buchnien visited the county clerk's office and obtained a marriage license. He gave his age as thirty-four years, while the girl who accompanied him stated under oath that she was eighteen years old.

know that Bob has been summoned on the jury?"

Mr. Hill—"Did he use the word 'summon'?"

ASKS AFTER HIS OPINION.

Mrs. Bain—"I do not know whether he said 'summoned' or 'subpoenaed'. I know he used the word subpoena and he asked if Bob had got his subpoena. I said I did not want Bob to serve on the jury and that I knew that he would not be qualified, and he said, 'Why?' I said that, in the first place, Bob was a little out of hearing. He asked me if Bob had expressed any opinion of any kind. I said, 'No; Bob is a very quiet man and has never spoken on the case in that way.' He said, 'Well, I want him to serve on that jury. I will make it worth while.' He said, 'In the first place, if he will serve on that jury, I will give him $500. That is to qualify. You know they are going to railroad those men. They are spending all kinds of money buying up witnesses and jurors, and he said, 'I can put you and me in the first street and help myself, too. The rest are going to do it, and we might as well do it too. Then afterward he said, 'Have Bob qualify and vote an acquittal and there will be plenty of testimony to prove that they are innocent and he need not have any conscientious scruples of anything of that kind, and money will be deposited and he will receive $3500 at the end of the trial.' He afterward told Bob that it would be $2500, but I am sure that was $3500."

Mr. Hill—"What was your answer?"

Mrs. Bain—"Well, he said, 'you know Bob. Do you think I dare to approach him on the subject?' He said, 'No, you had better not.' He spoke of there being no risk and made it very easy for me. Then he asked me if I would do it and I told him that I wanted time to think about it, and he said he must know then."

Mr. Hill—"To do what?"

WIFE TO APPROACH BAIN.

Mrs. Bain—"If I would speak to Bob and make the proposition to Bob as Mr. Franklin had made it to me, I was weak enough to consent. I told him I was going to do it, but that I did not know whether Bob would do it or not, but that I would speak to him. He agreed to come that night and see Bob and in the meantime I agreed to speak to Bob. He took out his pocketbook and showed me a roll of greenbacks."

Mr. Hill—"Did he tell who was furnishing the money?"

Mrs. Bain—"No; I did not ask him, but he spoke of plenty of money to fight the case and something like that. We had a conversation between me and my husband and only knows. I do not care to speak of it."

Mr. Hill—"But he fell to your pleas?"

Mrs. Bain—"Yes, he fell to my pleas. He finally agreed to our plans, and said he would accept Mr. Franklin's proposition."

Mr. Hill—"Then did Franklin come that night?"

Mrs. Bain—"Yes, but I was not at home. I was at a lodge."

Mr. Hill—"Nor was anything said to you by Mr. Bain when you came home?"

Mrs. Bain—"I asked Bob what had happened, and he was worried. He was in bed when I came back and said, 'I have the $400. Four hundred was all he brought.' He said he would bring the other money. I wish to God I had never gone into it. He then hushed me up and would not talk about it any more."

HONOR WAS BETTER.

"Then I tried to tell him he could disqualify himself and be $400 to the good. He said, 'That will not give me back my honor.' On Sunday he went to a G. A. R. meeting, and Franklin came Sunday evening, and I was there. He merely reiterated what he said to me before and told Bob that he did not have the extra $100 with him but that it was in a bank ready for him when he stood pat."

Mr. Hill—"Was anything else said that evening?"

Mrs. Bain—"He spoke again about men being railroad and went over the same ground, only cautioning us not to say anything to anyone. On Monday Mr. Bain was in court. He has not been home since. I have not spoken to him under God."

(Signed.) DORA F. BAIN.

Witness, J. A. Hill, deputy district attorney.

BOTH IN TEARS.

The statement was made a few hours before the jury was discharged, and when the Bains met they were both in tears. At their little home here the aged couple are downcast by the developments, but the district attorney has consoled them and, it is said, promised that they would not be arrested or involved beyond the giving of testimony in the court proceedings.

The prosecution's information concerning the bribery of still another juror, according to District Attorney Fredericks, is as well established as in the Bain case.

"The defense simply could not win by fair means," said Fredericks, "and the case they had the right evidence which would convict with any set of fair men and when they tried to win by unfair tactics we blocked them at every turn. That was why they surrendered."

The prosecutor was at his home when he discussed the case. He said he had slept but little, his telephone ringing constantly. He told the story to the Associated Press as he stood shaving—pajama-clad.

Bain, who is a ruddy-faced, white-haired civil war veteran, was the first juror sworn to try James B. McNamara. The balliffs say he has manifested irritation from time to time and did not give the impression that he liked jury service. Once when the jury was being taken to lunch Bain attacked with a broom a newspaper photographer who attempted to take his picture. Mrs. Bain several times visited the courtroom, but so far as known she did not speak to her husband after the jury had retired. She is a little woman many years the junior of her husband, but gray-haired.

SENSATION IS RIPE.

A sensation was caused today when scores of former talesmen in the McNamara case filed into Judge Walter Bordwell's court in response to summons. It was stated, however, that these men were excused only for the McNamara case and were liable for further jury service and that they were summoned for this and no other reason.

Judge Bordwell, upon whom rests the task of making the decision upon which rests the fate of the McNamara brothers, did not appear in court. It was reported that he was in seclusion, considering the course he expects to take.

It was said later today that the prosecution had learned that nearly every man in the jury box had been approached with reference to his verdict in the case, and that attempts had been made to bribe these men. It was asserted that proceedings in the Franklin case would reveal, however, that at least two jurors besides Bain and Lockwood indirectly accepted bribes. Sworn statements, the district attorney admitted, were in his possession in each case where a bribe had been accepted.

Industrial Peace Urged by Civic Federation

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—The position of the National Civic Federation in regard to the McNamara confessions is outlined in a resolution which will be adopted at a meeting here late this afternoon.

The meeting is introductory to a series of ten lectures by the members of President Taft's cabinet, the course having been arranged by Miss Morgan, daughter of J. P. Morgan, and other prominent women. The resolution reads:

"Resolved, That the recent developments in the McNamara case show such a lack of harmony between labor and capital, whose interests should be identical, that our country is in danger of becoming a house divided against itself. In the face of such evidence it behooves every citizen to study the process of government and the condition of his fellow man, in order that justice and sympathy may prevail and the cause of humanity be advanced."

Sees More Cause for Amazement to Come

INDIANAPOLIS, Dec. 4.—"Some persons that apparently have been so astounded by the pleas of guilty of the McNamara brothers at Los Angeles may soon be still further amazed," said a representative of one of the employers' organizations who is watching the federal inquiry here into the alleged nationwide dynamiting conspiracy, today.

"No one at all informed believes the McNamara were alone in operations that covered one hundred explosions from coast to coast, and cost an enormous amount of money."

Accountants and stenographers who produced today with examination records and correspondence of the Structural Iron Workers in the Federal grand jury chambers were seeking evidence it was learned, as to the exact disposition of certain funds of the association.

Would Give Defense Fund to Sufferers

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—The Brooklyn Central Labor Council endorsed yesterday a proposal to turn over to relatives of the Times' explosion victims the $100,000 subscribed to the McNamara defense fund by labor unions.

The resolution was adopted by Typographical Local No. 39 of Grand Rapids, Mich.

Lynch Says Labor Does Not Countenance Crime

BUFFALO, N. Y., Dec. 4.—James M. Lynch, president of the International Typographical Union, last night said:

"Union labor does not countenance the destruction of property or the taking of human life. I have nothing to say as to the punishment of the McNamaras, as I do not know the details of their confession."

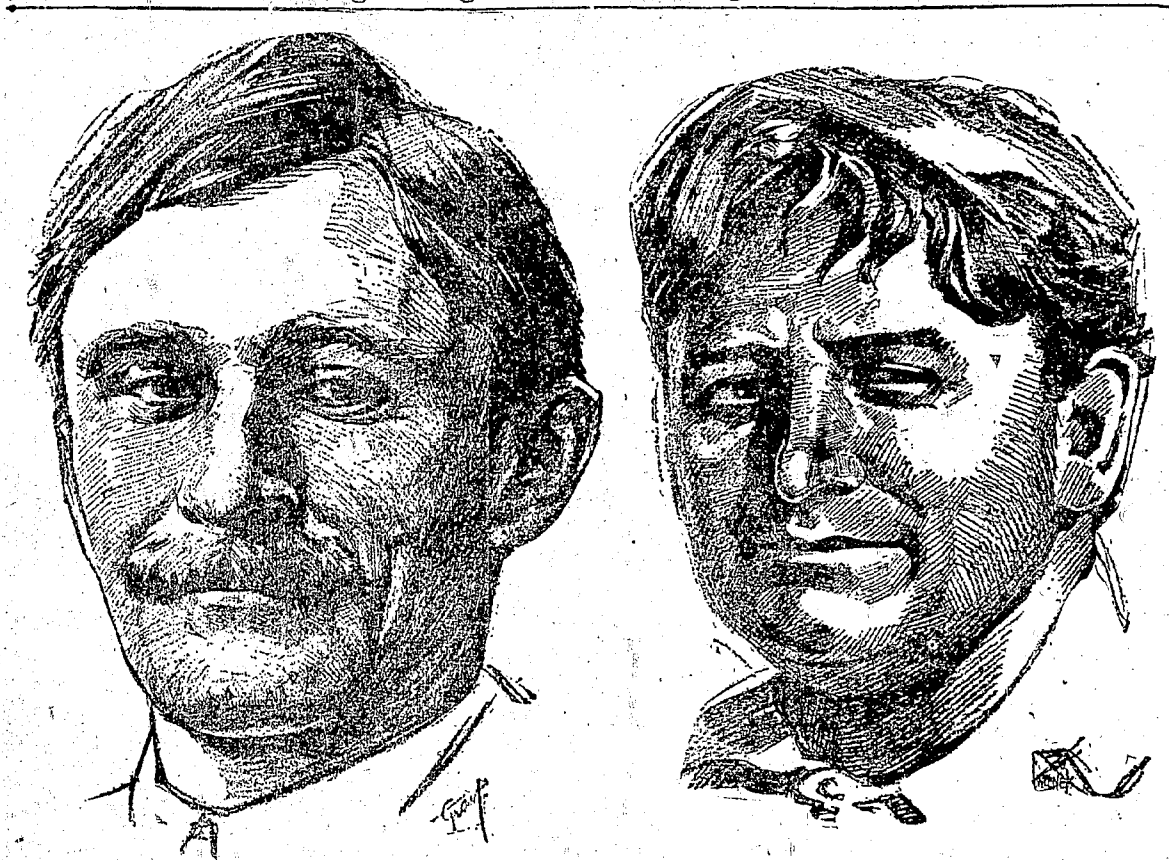

Whereabouts of Ryan to Be Kept Secret

INDIANAPOLIS, Dec. 4.—That the whereabouts of Frank M. Ryan, president of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers, will be kept a secret for several days because Ryan desires to avoid discussion at this time on the plea of guilty of the McNamara brothers, was the statement today of Joe M. Rappaport, attorney for the association.

MUCH ADO OVER REDWOOD.

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 4.—The powers of the state and county were appealed to by J. A. Flicher, in charge of the state exhibits at the state fair, to recover an immense redwood slab that had been the big feature of the state's wood display, after being shown in St. Louis, Chicago, Portland and Seattle. Benjamin F. Lathrop, a local contractor, had the exhibit and was using it for a sign board until he was instructed by the attorney general and the district attorney to surrender it.

DETECTIVES CLOSE IN ON SCHMIDT AND KAPLAN

"M'NAMARAS BEAR UP BRAVELY," SAYS SCOTT

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 4.—As far as the Time's explosion was concerned, M. A. Schmidt and David Kaplan, against whom indictments jointly with the McNamaras were returned, never have been captured, but information today from authoritative sources was that they soon would be reached. But besides those indicted the state is reaching out to arrest other culpable persons and some of these are said to be out of the state at present. These persons are alleged to have had guilty knowledge of the conspiracy to blow up the Times and formed "the conspiracy ring," as a member of the prosecution here phrased it, which blew up buildings at Oakland, Cal., Seattle and other cities on the Pacific coast. It is considered possible that the probe of the federal government into the interstate conspiracies may cover the same ground desired to be accomplished by the authorities here and the state and federal governments will reciprocate in the handling and gathering of evidence.

From Orrie E. McManigal the state has obtained possession of much information concerning other explosions and although for the last few days there have been rumors that the McNamaras would make a full confession implicating co-conspirators, it was said by Attorney Joseph Scott of the McNamara defense today that District Attorney John C. Fredericks did not demand a full confession when the arrangement was made for them to plead guilty and obtain clemency. Attorney Scott has been with the prisoners most of the time since they made their confessions.

BEAR BURDEN BRAVELY.

"The McNamaras are bearing their burden bravely," said Scott today. "They have a soldier's spirit and are ready to take their medicine, whatever it be. They feel that a load has been lifted from their minds. One of the first things they did was to telegraph a friend in Indianapolis to go to Con-

to comfort their mother, whom they read had broken down."

"What do the McNamaras say about the attacks made upon them by labor leaders?" Scott was asked.

"Well, they have not said anything for publication as yet, and they don't have to make any more confessions just yet, but John J., I think, will make a statement some time soon expressing his views and telling just what he sought to accomplish. He has certain ideas on how to make his fight in the world, and he was honestly convinced that they were the best."

"What sentence do you think John J. will get?"

"About fourteen years, I think, but that's up to the court."

"Are the McNamaras worrying about their sentences?"

ARE NOT WORRYING.

"No; they are ready to take what they get. They only are worrying about us fellows, the attorneys. They think their confession has hurt Job Harriman, who is running for mayor, and myself as candidate for the board of education."

The effect of the McNamara confession on the political situation is a matter of general discussion here and while Job Harriman, the Socialist candidate for mayor, has stated that as an associate counsel for the McNamaras he knew nothing of their guilt and was not consulted in connection with their confession, District Attorney John C. Fredericks himself today issued a statement in connection with Scott's candidacy for the board of education.

"I know of no reason in Joseph Scott's connection with the McNamara case why Burns should not do so," announced District Attorney Fredericks, in a signed statement.

"When we get through here," declared Assistant District Attorney W. Joseph Ford today, "and when the federal government finishes its investigation, people will realize how inadequate our laws are covering the bringing to trial or punishment of people who commit a crime in one state and flee to another or who live in one state and direct the commission of crimes in other states."

It was Ford who went to Indianapolis to represent the California authorities in arresting John J. McNamara and he declared that though McNamara was legally extradited the incident illustrated how, unless prompt action on the part of one state was taken, guilty parties might escape punishment by preventing extradition.

BEARS NO MALICE.

"And as to labor unions," he continued, "we of the prosecution bear no malice to them. We have tried to win in court, that we were prosecuting individuals and not any particular class. The confession, however, and things that will follow, certainly ought to show the laboring men that they should be more careful in the selection of their leaders. They also should keep better watch on the activities of the leaders. Laboring men have the right to organize, and that phase of the question should not be to all of them, including those offered by labor organizations and subsequently withdrawn when the McNamaras were arrested, if Burns cares to sue for them."

A question, however, has arisen as to the collection of one $5000 reward by Burns as there is an ordinance providing that no person in the employ of the city can collect a reward for the arrest, and Burns was then employed by Mayor Alexander. There are other large rewards, however, which probably will get which are not affected by that ordinance.

District Attorney Fredericks Gives Veiled Assurance of Action.

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 4.—District Attorney Fredericks declared today that he was familiar in a general way with the scope of the federal investigation into dynamite conspiracies throughout the country and that any evidence he had would be turned over to the federal authorities as soon as requested. He was inclined to think that although a federal investigation might be instituted here it was more likely that the center of activity of the government authorities would be Indianapolis. He was asked point blank in connection with the Franklin bribery case, if a prominent attorney was to be arrested.

"Not that I know of yet," replied Fredericks.

"Then you will prosecute the Franklin case without regard to the consequences?"

"Yes, but with due regard to the consequences," corrected the district attorney.

As to the disposition of Orrie E. McManigal, the district attorney said he had arrived at no decision on the matter but that his determination as well as the necessary action would all be taken in one day soon.

He also asserted that arrangements had been made to take the McNamaras to San Quentin penitentiary tomorrow, soon after sentence had been passed upon them.

ATTORNEY AVERS NICKELS KNEW OF M'NAMARAS' INTENTION TO CONFESS LOS ANGELES CRIMES

Further Arrests Are Threatened in Case That Has

Scheme of Disproportional Representation

Franklin Hichborn says: "The People are interested only in securing that reapportionment which will insure the best possible legislative representation for the entire State."

That rolls out nicely and has a sonorous sound; but who are the people? Mr. Hichborn seems to think the population of this State is divided into The People and the dwellers in cities having over 100,000 inhabitants. He evades the elementary principle of proportional and equitable representation, and beats about the bush with such enigmatic phrases as "insuring the best possible legislative representation for the entire State." Plainly he is making a plea for disproportionate representation and for an unequal distribution of political power.

The theory of our government is that one man is as good as another and that all men are armed equally with the ballot. This equality is denied when one man's vote in one locality is permitted to count for as much as two men's votes in another locality. When proportional representation is denied some men are robbed of their political strength and others given more power than belongs to them.

This is not equal rights. It is not common justice. It is a violation of the fundamental principle upon which our whole political system is based. The scheme of disproportional representation is based upon the assumption that persons engaged in rural pursuits and dwelling amid rural surroundings are wiser, more virtuous and more patriotic than persons engaged in trade, manufacturing and other employments peculiar to cities. It is an old and threadbare assumption. But even if it were true it is no warrant for violating the essential and fundamental principle of democratic government. There is neither reason nor justice in the claim that a voter in Plumas or Alpine or Inyo county is more intelligent, more patriotic and more moral than a voter in San Francisco, Oakland or Los Angeles. Moreover, it has no constitutional foundation. It is a political obsession. The rural idea is that Tar Flat and the Barbary Coast reflect the morals, intelligence and patriotism of San Francisco. The flash resorts in those localities thrive on country patronage. It is the visitor from Red Dog and Bear Valley that keeps them going.

But proportional representation is the corollary of manhood suffrage. It is farcical to grant manhood suffrage and deny proportional representation—they are one and inseparable in principle, have the same root in the democratic idea and the same purpose in a democratic scheme of government. But here we have a band of political dervishes howling in one breath, "Let the people rule," and in the next trying to divide the power residing in the people unequally. The excuse for this unequal division is that the people dwelling in some localities are less fit for the duties and responsibilities of citizenship than the people dwelling in other localities. Who are the people, anyhow?

During the past summer the vine-growers of France made loud complaints about the drouth and short crops. Now they are awake to the fact that the vintage of this bad season is the best France has had in twenty years, and that the wine is bringing abnormally high prices. The short crop this year will net the vineyardists more money than the big crop of 1909 netted them. Much of the vintage of 1909 remains unsold, but all the wine of this year's vintage is eagerly snapped up at fancy prices. Sometimes blessings come in disguise.

Organized Labor's False Friend.

Charles Moyer, who was implicated with Haywood and Pettibone in the murder of ex-Governor Steunenberg of Idaho, but was acquitted after a sensational trial, denounces the McNamaras for confessing their guilt. He says he would have died before admitting the crime, even if guilty, and says the McNamaras have injured the cause of organized labor by acknowledging themselves guilty of the charges against them.

Moyer's ethics (assuming that he was correctly reported) are infinitely more harmful to organized labor than the crimes committed by the McNamaras. Moyer's sentiments are damnable. He has no word of condemnation for the atrocity of blowing up the Times building, not a single expression of sympathy for the unfortunates who were bereaved and bereft of their protectors by the explosion, no regret for the criminal acts perpetrated by the McNamaras.

Only bitter condemnation of the McNamaras for confessing their guilt. He does not blame them for being guilty, but for telling the truth about it.

The logical conclusion to be drawn from Moyer's statements is that he sympathizes with the policy of violence, of which the dynamiting of the Times building and the Llewellyn Iron Works was an expression. Apparently he believes organized labor should share this sympathy. It would be most unfortunate for society and for organized labor if it did. We do not believe organized labor is animated by the sentiments expressed by Charles Moyer, nor in sympathy with the crimes committed by the McNamaras. Apparently Moyer would identify union labor with lawless outrage, but it is worthy of note that the labor organizations are not following his lead. They are denouncing the crimes committed by the McNamaras, and the regret they express is not that the truth has been told, but that the McNamaras are guilty.

George Potato has been arrested in St. Louis for ogling girls. He should be served up properly mashed.

John Hays Hammond on Paul Krueger.

John Hays Hammond says Oom Paul Krueger believed the earth was flat and that the devil had a tail. Possibly he did, but his ignorance with respect to the shape of the earth and Satan's caudal appendage did not justify depriving a brave, simple and hardy pioneer folk of their liberty.

Hammond followed the gold lure into the territory the Boers wrested from savages and reduced to the order of civilization, and because the mining adventurers did not like the Boer government and Boer laws they conspired to overthrow the Boer republics and make them crown colonies of Great Britain.

The plot succeeded, but the war for the subjugation of the Transvaal and the Orange Free State is a chapter in her history that England will never be proud of. It was a dearly purchased victory. It cost a vast sum and British arms and British prestige have not yet recovered from the defeats inflicted by the sturdy frontiersmen.

And in the end the rights of the Boer have compelled recognition. All the States of South Africa have been brought into a confederation, but a Boer—one of the men who led his countrymen against the British invader—is the head of the government. General Botha is the premier of the South African confederation, the ruling spirit in a political organization dominated by the Boers.

John Hays Hammond may sneer at Oom Paul, but the name of the stout Dutch burgher will figure in history long after that of Hammond is forgotten or only recalled in connection with the incidents that brought on the Boer war.

The most unpleasant feature of the compromise in the McNamara case is that Lincoln Steffens managed to get a big personal advertisement out of it.

Stephenson's Skirts Cleared.

It is stated that the Senate committee which has been investigating the election of Senator Stephenson will report failure to find any evidence of vote-buying. A scandalously extravagant amount of money was expended by the aged Wisconsin Senator, but none of it was spent unlawfully; at least, no proof of corruption or illegality was found. Nevertheless it is said the committee will censure Stephenson for spending so much money. If the committee should condemn the practice of individuals spending great sums to promote their election to public office and suggest that remedial legislation be applied, all requirement would be answered. To scold "Uncle Ike" for spending money so lavishly will be taking an unwarranted liberty since he has violated no law and committed no act that can be construed as corrupting. But the case is instructive in one particular, at least. It shows what an advantage a rich man has in a free-for-all direct primary contest.

So Archbishop Ireland is to have a red hat after all. But he will not have to thank Colonel Roosevelt and "Dear Maria" for it. Indeed, the archbishop of St. Paul appears to have been a trifle unfortunate in his friends.

Hogs and Humans.

Without discussing the propriety of the proposed establishment of a National Bureau of Public Health, some attention may be given to the arguments made in its favor by Senator Owen, the author of the plan.

In his speech to the Trans-Mississippi Congress, in favor of his bill, the Senator held up to odium the government's conservation of plant and animal life, while doing nothing to protect human life. He referred sarcastically to the "anxiety displayed by the Department of Agriculture whenever a hog is reported to be suffering from the cholera. Government serum is rushed to a sick hog."

The Senator talks rot. The Agricultural Department furnishes free the serum which is a specific for blackleg in cattle, and has been long experimenting to secure a serum that is a specific for the hog cholera. The Senator takes the position that this is an expression of official mercy and kindness, and of a desire to relieve the suffering of the brutes.

It is nothing of the sort. Human life depends entirely upon the primary and secondary fruits of the earth. If epizootics are permitted to run unchecked amongst hogs and cattle, human beings would finally be deprived of the meat and dairy products supplied by those animals and necessary to the support of human life. Animals useful to man are the secondary products of the soil, and men and animals depend upon the plants, which are the primary fruits of the earth. The science of plant pathology, fostered by the government, detects the diseases of plants and discloses their remedy. So economic entomology hunts out the insect destroyers of plants and finds the means to fight them. All of this work is in the interest of human life to the end that its food supply of meats and plants may be maintained, and famine averted. To treat it as merely solicitude for the welfare of brutes and plants is rank and rotten nonsense, unworthy of even an Oklahoma Senator.

Writing from "Camp," Mrs. Fanny Bullock's Workman, the mountain climber, gives further details of her exploration of the Himalayan glaciers.

Mrs. Workman says the climax of the summer's work was the crossing of the Salto Pass at a height of 18,300 feet on August 19 and a visit of three weeks to the great Sachem, or Rose Glacier, reputed to be the largest and longest in Asia. It has never yet been measured, but is probably fifty miles long. It cannot be ascended from the tongue from May 15 to September 15 owing to the depth of Mobra river, which flows therefrom, and the presence of dangerous quicksands. The only summer approach is by the great Salto Pass and the descent of the Salto Glacier, which taps the Salchen at a height of 16,000 feet.

The first European to cross the Salto was Dr. Longstaff, who accomplished this feat in June, 1900, and descended toward the Salchen, remaining one day on the glacier and returning by the same route. Ballistai, Mrs. Workman's Italian guide, with porters and eighty coolies, reached the barren mountain on the flank of the upper Salchen on August 20 in a violent snowstorm.

A 21,000-foot mountain was ascended, on which the party was caught in a monsoon and driven back to camp. Thirty miles of the glacier were traversed without any sign of wood. A number of large llexes were seen. Notwithstanding the storms and the difficulty of obtaining supplies, the expedition remained on the Salchen until September 15, and secured new and interesting glaciological and geographical information.

DISASTER!

There is a short crop of cabbage in Germany this year, and sauerkraut, usually an article of export to the United States, is in demand for domestic requirements. Hungary and Russia have been exporting fair quantities thus far, and some contracts covering German sauerkraut sold in the American market have been canceled and the difference in price paid. It is anticipated that the shortage will be still more apparent in January than at present, and offers of American sauerkraut will be received with interest by Hamburg dealers. The present prices quoted on imported kraut are from $13.09 to $13.28 per hoghead, and some business has been done at $9.53. The conventional duty on this article in Germany is 0.952 per 100, kilos (220 pounds). The general duty of $2.38 was imposed on sauerkraut imported from the United States prior to February 8, 1910, but on that date the lower rate was extended to United States products.—Daily Consular Reports.

"I love you!" he cried, throwing all restraint to the winds.

AN INTERESTED PARTY.

"Yes," said the intelligent looking lady, "I am terribly interested in this new health fad—the one in which you cure all ailments by going without your breakfast. It is getting popular in the East, I hear, and I'll do anything I can to get it introduced in this section of the country."
"Why are you so enthusiastic about it?" ventured the gentleman addressed.

20 YEARS AGO IN OAKLAND

What has become of the movement for the annexation of Fruitvale? It should not be permitted to lapse. The electric road now being constructed will bind the suburb closer to the city.

R. W. Kirkham, J. S. Emeny, Peter Thomson and H. A. Powell, the committee of the Mountain View Cemetery Association, who were appointed from the board of directors to investigate the books and accounts, have reported to the trustees that they have found many errors. These defects are largely attributed to methods of improvements when the association was in its infancy.

J. B. McChesney, principal of the Oakland High School, has decided upon what pupils he will recommend to the Board of Education for graduation. They are: Bel H. Hunt, Clarence Crowell, Abe Lewis, Victoria McArthur, Lotte Preyer, Letitia Mackay, Bertha R. Young, Carr E. Neil, Raymond J. Russ, Chester Hawkins, Nelson Phelps, E. W. Spaulding, Arthur Wolfenden, Esther Irwin, May Gooch, Ethel A. Coplin, Edna Maxwell, Arthur Plumer, Bessie Farwell, Leonard Walton, Belle Hutchinson, George H. Moore, Delancy McDonald, Blanche Ingalls, Will Hoogs, Edwin R. Jackson, Charles L. Taylor Jr., Edward J. Crawford, Gaior J. Wilson, Maude Pierce, Harry Parcell and Leo Griswold.

The elegant residence of Captain Goodall on Jackson street was thronged with guests last evening in response to numerous invitations issued by Mrs. Goodall and her daughter, Miss Ella, for a reception prior to their departure for the East. Mrs. J. N. Knowles, Miss Mamie Knowles and Miss Mamie Houghton will accompany them.

John C. Howell of San Francisco, who shot Rene S. Colvin, police court stenographer of this city, on August 3, 1891, was today adjudged not guilty by a jury in the criminal department of the Superior Court. The jury was made up of the following men: R. B. Nixon, Thomas Sweeney, John Stockey, James Galloway, J. G. Young, John Curran, D. C. Kennedy, George T. Burtchell, J. C. Whipple, F. C. Winton, John H. Chipman, Harry Wells.

THEIR FIRST CHANCE

"That newest cook we've got seems to be satisfied," announced Mrs. Hiram Weekleigh proudly.

MRS. KENDALL MORGAN'S pretty home on Jayne street will be the scene of a luncheon tomorrow when covers will be laid for fourteen guests. Like all Mrs. Morgan's affairs the luncheon will be an informal and thoroughly delightful one, the hostess welcoming her friends with the graciousness and charm for which she is noted.

HARROLD-BAXTER NUPTIALS.
Miss Helene Harrold's marriage to Harold Baxter tomorrow night will be witnessed by a few relatives and friends. The Harrold family, having recently established their home in Alameda, having come from Mill Valley, where they have spent the last year. The bride-elect is an accomplished violinist and is a cousin of Miss Sue Harrold, also of Miss Cecil Harrold, who is soon to marry Alfred Henshaw Dana, a New York man. Baxter is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Baxter of Myrtle street, and is a graduate of the University of California with the class of 1908. In college affairs he was prominently identified with musical and dramatic activities, was president of the DeKoven Club and a member of the Alpha Delta Phi. A handsome home in Piedmont Terrace is being prepared for the occupancy of the young couple.

ENTHUSIASM OVER "PROM."
The 500 guests who attended the junior prom at the gymnasium at the University of California on Friday are still enthusiastic over the dance, which was the climax of the Junior day celebration. The decorations were exceptionally beautiful. In the center of the hall was a giant sequoia whose branches spread out over the room with myriad electric lights gleaming through the foliage. Many effective gowns were worn.

VISITING IN ALAMEDA.
Mr. and Mrs. Charles Goddard have arrived from Denver for the holiday season, which they will spend with the O. M. Goddards of Alameda.

ANOTHER NAVY WEDDING.
Miss Ethel O'Brien, who has been spending the holidays at Monterey, will be married to Lieutenant Fitzhugh Lee Minigrove on December 12 at the Fairmont Hotel.

FOUR O'CLOCK TEA.
One of the enjoyable events of the week was the informal 4 o'clock tea given at the Palace Hotel by Miss Meda McCartney in honor of Mrs. Sumner Loop of Alameda, who has recently returned from Europe. Mr. and Mrs. Duncan MacDuffie are planning to arrive home from Europe in time to spend Christmas here. Since their marriage last June they have been enjoying an ideal trip through Europe sightseeing and "doing" all the principal cities. Both are experienced travelers, having been abroad before. Prior to her marriage Mrs. MacDuffie spent several years in Paris. Their new home in Claremont is rapidly being prepared for their occupancy. It is a handsome mansion, and surrounded by a ten-acre park well cultivated. Mrs. MacDuffie, formerly Jean Howard Schoenmayer, is one of the most popular local society women.

Look for Beauty

By LILLIAN RUSSELL

(Copyright, 1911, by Lillian Russell.)

IN the foreword of a November magazine are these words: "There once lived a woman who was blind to all but beauty." She was criticized for drawing pictures that were not true to life, but she replied that her pictures were life as it appeared to her. A life of perfect beauty was Kate Greenaway, and we shall say that her influence was as great, because nothing ugly existed longer.

Confess that Kate Greenaway, who is said to have founded a new school of art and who has dressed the children of two continents, was much greater because she saw only beauty. I wonder if you realize that the beautiful women of history of the world's great beauties of today are not more beautiful than many others you pass on the street in your morning walk. The only difference between them is that the famous beauty has had the attention of the world called to her perfection, and when one sees her, for the first time, one unconsciously looks for beauty.

If your attention had not been called to the turn of Langry's throat, the glinting bronze brown of her hair, the distinct oval of her face, and her beautiful complexion, you probably would have seen first her ugly mouth; as it was, few people ever thought of it. Every one was looking for beauty, when they looked at Langry, and found it.

rarely see a face that has not some beauty points. In fact, has more beauty than ugliness. Often these are covered by neglect and thoughtless modes of living until it takes some one who, like myself, is always hunting for beauty to find it. One necessary point upon a woman's face, and one that is much neglected, is her eyebrows. I have often wanted to tell women whom I have seen in shops or hotels how much they could improve their appearance simply by training their eyebrows properly. I do not believe one woman in a hundred ever brushes her eyebrows, and just this one simple act would add 10 per cent to her good looks to the other 90.

It is quite as necessary for you to have an eyebrow brush among your toilet articles as a brush for your hair or your nails. After you have powdered your face, take the handle of the brush, lightly between the thumb and forefinger, begin at the nose, brushing upward the length of the brow. Then lightly draw the brush across the brow, shaping the curve correctly. You will be surprised what an improvement this will make immediately. Your eyebrows will look darker, heavier and more shapely. If your eyebrows are thin, scraggly and light colored, a little touching up of mascara may be necessary for daytime wear. This, however, must be done delicately, being careful not to get any of the watercolor on the skin.

Sometimes you find a woman with brows that grow across the nose. This is always a great beauty defect, as it gives to the face a look of hardness. There are many ways by which this can be taken care of. It can be pulled out with tweezers as often as necessary or destroyed permanently with an electric need. A number of my friends, however, who have heavy, unruly eyebrows are going to an expert about once in six weeks.

An expert shaves the hair over the nose and shapes the brows perfectly. He works with the skin perfectly dry, removing each hair separately, not taking any stroke as a barber would when shaving. The man is most meticulous, and it does not take one as long to have the eyebrows shaped as to have a manicure. My friends tell me this process does not make the hair grow heavier or coarser, and they insist that a half hour is well spent occasionally in this part of beauty culture; and, looking them over, I am quite sure they are right for in most cases it makes them look five years younger and in all cases immeasurably improves them. Remember, beauty, as well as other things, is precarious when it hangs by an eyebrow.

TRICE MILLIONAIRE HE IS NOW PUBLIC CHARGE

BLOOMINGTON, Ill., Dec. 4.—Probably in all the porches of Illinois there is not a case so remarkable as that of William J. Henderson of Rossville. He was taken to the Vermilion county poor farm to spend the remainder of his days. Rated on three different occasions as a millionaire, he lost each fortune, and now, in his 80th year, he has neither friend nor money.

Henderson came to America from Ireland when a youth of 17, full of energy and with a shrewd head for money making. He was married four times. After the loss of his last fortune, he was unable to support his wife and she returned to her children.

JAWBONE BLOWN OFF IN FIGHT OVER BOOTY

BOISE, Idaho, December 4.—His right cheek and jawbone blown away by the contents of a shotgun in the hands of his pals, when they quarreled over a division of the booty secured from the Postoffice of Placabo, Harry Barton of Boise is lying between life and death at a hospital in Richfield, Idaho.

Barton was deserted after being shot and left to wander over the rugged country for hours with half of his face shot away. His comrades, Edward Burke and Fred Murphy, are being held by the authorities at Halley.

The Postoffice at Placabo was entered by three men a few nights ago, the safe opened, and $1000 in cash and stamps taken. Fleeing to the isolated foothills near Placabo, the three robbers quarreled over the booty and the shooting ensued.

Look for Beauty

By LILLIAN RUSSELL

(Copyright, 1911, by Lillian Russell.)

IN the foreword of a November magazine are these words: "There once lived a woman who was blind to all but beauty." She was criticized for drawing pictures that were not true to life, but she replied that her pictures were life as it appeared to her. A life of perfect beauty was Kate Greenaway, and we shall say that her influence was as great, because nothing ugly existed longer.

Confess that Kate Greenaway, who is said to have founded a new school of art and who has dressed the children of two continents, was much greater because she saw only beauty. I wonder if you realize that the beautiful women of history of the world's great beauties of today are not more beautiful than many others you pass on the street in your morning walk. The only difference between them is that the famous beauty has had the attention of the world called to her perfection, and when one sees her, for the first time, one unconsciously looks for beauty.

If your attention had not been called to the turn of Langry's throat, the glinting bronze brown of her hair, the distinct oval of her face, and her beautiful complexion, you probably would have seen first her ugly mouth; as it was, few people ever thought of it. Every one was looking for beauty, when they looked at Langry, and found it.

rarely see a face that has not some beauty points. In fact, has more beauty than ugliness. Often these are covered by neglect and thoughtless modes of living until it takes some one who, like myself, is always hunting for beauty to find it. One necessary point upon a woman's face, and one that is much neglected, is her eyebrows. I have often wanted to tell women whom I have seen in shops or hotels how much they could improve their appearance simply by training their eyebrows properly. I do not believe one woman in a hundred ever brushes her eyebrows, and just this one simple act would add 10 per cent to her good looks to the other 90.

It is quite as necessary for you to have an eyebrow brush among your toilet articles as a brush for your hair or your nails. After you have powdered your face, take the handle of the brush, lightly between the thumb and forefinger, begin at the nose, brushing upward the length of the brow. Then lightly draw the brush across the brow, shaping the curve correctly. You will be surprised what an improvement this will make immediately. Your eyebrows will look darker, heavier and more shapely. If your eyebrows are thin, scraggly and light colored, a little touching up of mascara may be necessary for daytime wear. This, however, must be done delicately, being careful not to get any of the watercolor on the skin.

Sometimes you find a woman with brows that grow across the nose. This is always a great beauty defect, as it gives to the face a look of hardness. There are many ways by which this can be taken care of. It can be pulled out with tweezers as often as necessary or destroyed permanently with an electric need. A number of my friends, however, who have heavy, unruly eyebrows are going to an expert about once in six weeks.

An expert shaves the hair over the nose and shapes the brows perfectly. He works with the skin perfectly dry, removing each hair separately, not taking any stroke as a barber would when shaving. A HEAVYWEIGHT.—The first thing I advise you to do, if you wish to get rid of superfluous flesh is to look well to your diet. No fried food should be eaten, no rich foods, pastries, no liquors of any kind should be taken and cream should be eliminated from tea and coffee. Eat only boiled or roasted meats; no pork and no starchy foods, and vegetables should always form a part of the menu. Lack of exercise is one of the chief causes of obesity. It is absolutely necessary to exercise if you wish to reduce. It is hard to reduce one's flesh and few women are willing to deny themselves the rich foods and keep up the exercise necessary to do it. Sleep only seven hours at night and take no naps during the day. Walk at least three miles a day, or a five-mile walk is even better. Send me a self-addressed, stamped envelope and I shall be glad to send you rolling exercises for reducing the hips and a dietary.

B. T.—Break yourself of that habit of biting your nails. I am sure you can do it if you use a little will power. Have your nails manicured once a week, and every morning after washing the hands gently push down the cuticle with the blunt end of the orangewood stick. Get your nails into such a condition that you will take pride in them, and won't want to bite them and spoil them. Send me a self-addressed, stamped envelope and I shall send you complete instructions for manicuring.

B. T.—In the case of a double chin prevent it as much as you can. Right collar always make ugly rolls of fat under the chin, and the habit of holding the head down is fatal. Send me a self-addressed, stamped envelope and I shall send you exercises for a double chin.

Furniture Is A Gift

That Serves Many Generations

Now Is The Time When Our Display Is Richest In Gift Pieces.

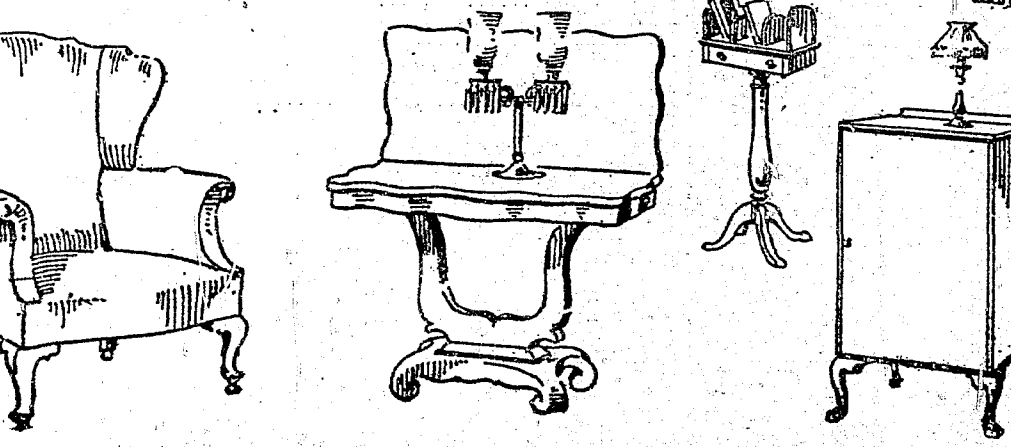

GIFT-GIVING is settling down upon a rational basis, and people of superior understanding mostly give things of service. Why a token of friendship should not be, above all, serviceable, is something not easy to comprehend, especially since service is one of the animating principles of the age.

More people than ever are buying furniture for Christmas gifts, preferring to give the gift of integrity that will pass down the generations.

Our assortments gathered from the foremost cabinet makers, have never, at this time, been so extensive, so uniformly exclusive and beautiful, so rich in gift pieces.

Among the special features that will mark the meeting are inspections of the Brooklyn navy yard and the gigantic trans-Atlantic liner Olympic, which will be in dock here during the next few days.

The committee of new York members of the society, which is the nucleus of the program, is composed of Fred H. Colvin, Edward Van Winkle, Roy V. Wright, Frederick A. Waldron (secretary-treasurer) and Walter Rautenstrauch (chairman). They have arranged a rousing welcome to the visiting members upon their arrival at the society's rooms tomorrow for the opening meeting.

SPEEDWAY AND PARK SITE OFFERED FRESNO

FRESNO, Dec. 4.—If Fresno county will agree to improve a hundred acres of the San Joaquin river that site will be given to this county for a park by the Fresno Shaurman Home company, which is planning land in that part of the county on the market.

The park site is valued at $25,000. Should the board of supervisors accept the offer to connect the park with the city, the company will build an eight-mile speedway that will rival Kearney avenue. The speedway has already been surveyed. The offer will be made to the supervisors at the next regular meeting.

JOHANNES ROHMERS, the landscape architect of Berkeley, who has looked over the proposed park site, says that the land is eminently suited for such purposes.

CONTRACT LET FOR COUNTY INFIRMARY DORMITORY

BUILDING TO BE HURRIED TO FINISH

Contractor Promises to Complete Structure in Forty Working Days.

Supervisors Will Soon Take Over Draw Bridges Across the Tidal Canal.

Bids for the construction of a dormitory at the county infirmary were opened this morning at the meeting of the board of supervisors. The contract was awarded to H. F. Smith on his bid of $3543, it being the lowest of thirteen bids submitted. The Oakland Construction Company was the second lowest, its price being $3896 and Ernest Anderson was third with an offer of $3910.

Smith erected the tubercular wards at the infirmary a year ago. He furnished a bond of $1750 and stated that he would complete the building within forty working days. Construction will commence at once. The work will be done under the supervision of Architect McDougall.

INSPECTION OF BRIDGES.

All members of the board were present today. A report was made in reference to the inspection last week of the new bridges across the tidal canal which have been recently remodeled by the government into draw bridges. It is the intention of the county to accept them and be responsible for their upkeep and repair in the near future. Supervisor Kelley pointed out that while the structures worked well in a general way, their operation was somewhat slow, requiring nine minutes for the high street bridge to make a complete turn. His motion that the county surveyor make an inspection and report to the board carried. Supervisor Bridge stated that the Park street bridge was also slow and that it should be thoroughly inspected before the county accepts it as well as the others.

Upon recommendation of County Surveyor P. A. Haviland, the supervisors accepted work that has been done on the county road near Bridge by the Hind and Hodges company. E. H. Hoar will be paid a balance of $6000 for work done on the Alameda road contract costing in all $12,000. The Ransome-Crummey company has completed partial construction on the Dublin-Hayward road and will be paid $1817 for the work.

H. D. Cushing and nine other property owners in the Irvington road district petitioned the board to have opened a stretch of road in that territory and J. W. Brewer, M. V. Perry and P. A. Haviland were appointed viewers upon motion of supervisor Murphy. The petitioners furnished a bond of $100 to cover the preliminary work in case the road is not opened.

There being no opposition, a liquor license was granted to Joe Thomas of Contra Costa. The application of Albert Silva of Decoto was set for hearing on December 26.

The board took adjournment until Monday December 11.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 4.—Mary L. Sudall, who shot and killed her divorced husband on July 3, as he was pleading for trial of his mother's wedding ring, was placed on trial in Superior Judge Cabanis' court today.

Joseph Sudall, the husband, obtained an interlocutory decree from Superior Judge Morgan and shortly afterward went to Mrs. Sudall's home, 442 Twenty-fifth avenue, and requested the return of the ring. A quarrel followed and Mrs. Sudall shot him in the back as he was standing on the porch. He died a few hours later at the Park emergency hospital and the woman was arrested for murder.

The jury was obtained this morning and this afternoon the taking of evidence was begun.

ALAMEDA MISSIONARY'S WIFE WRITES OF CHINA'S HORRORS

HOME BURNED IN HANKOW BATTLE

Mrs. Paul Maslin Carried to Safety From Sick Bed and Flees to Shanghai.

Husband Returns to Danger Zone to Aid in Caring for Wounded Chinese.

ALAMEDA, Dec. 4.—Direct from the trouble zone in the Chinese Empire, a letter was received in this city yesterday, by E. W. Maslin, from his daughter-in-law, Mrs. Paul Maslin. The letter was posted at Shanghai under the date of November 7.

Since the seething whirlpool of revolt in China became dangerous within the empire, the Maslins have feared for the safety of their son and his family. The Rev. Paul Maslin, who is a well known Alameda, has been doing missionary work in China. Recently the family were in California, but left here on August 22 for their home in Hankow, and it was not until the arrival of the letter, written nearly a month ago, that the fears of the parents have been in a measure quieted.

HOME IS BURNED. The Rev. Paul Maslin has been a missionary in China for several years, and with his family, has lived in Hankow until recently, when the Chinese burned and looted his home, and he, with his wife and children, was forced to flee to Shanghai for protection.

In her letter, Mrs. Maslin graphically describes the burning of Hankow, the destruction of her home, and her husband's church, and their flight from the city of carnage. Mrs. Maslin was formerly a Miss Willey, of Sacramento. She is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Willey, of that city, and they have been communed with.

Following are excerpts from the letter: "One morning while I was yet in bed, Mr. Maslin came upstairs with a note saying that Wu Chang, Manchu Viceroy city, had been burned out and the inhabitants had fled. He said that the foreigners in the native city had better come to the concessions to stay. We paid no attention to it because the American consul did not advise it, and also, there was no anti-foreigner movement. That night at another letter came from our people saying to come to the concessions, and that all foreigners be prepared to rush to the boats in case of fighting. I was in bed and told by the doctor to remain there as I was sick. All the foreigners were in a big scare over nothing because there wasn't any government. The Chinese were in a state of confusion and all the revolutionists were in charge and had sent out proclamations of perfect safety to the foreigners. And they have kept those promises. We did not go to that night neither did the foreigners living near us.

RESIDENTS FLEE.

"The next day there was great moving from the city, although there was no reason to fear at that time. Eight out of every ten walked out of the city of Hankow, carrying their effects with them. Hankow is a city of about 3,000,000 people and when Mr. Maslin and the doctor came down next morning to see the consul, they could hardly get through the street, it was so crowded with struggling humanity. The hour of strife had come, and the Manchus were being burned out. When Paul (Maslin) came back, Han said that three cities, Wu Chang, Han Yang and Hankow were under the perfect control of the revolutionary government. Our servants remained with us but a short time and then fled from the protection of a foreigner's home to less safe places. We then decided to go to the concessions just to please our friends and so we packed a small steamer trunk and went. We sent back and carried away everything that we could with convenience, but were compelled to leave a great many things that were dear to us. Pretty soon the fighting was going fiercely on and to avoid the sights of bloodshed, my husband brought me to Shanghai.

FEARED WARSHIPS.

"No violence was offered to the foreigners because the opposing armies were afraid of the great warships that patrolled the shores of China. Hankow is a worse place than was San Francisco after the fire there.

"Since the beginning of this great revolution there has been a well established Red Cross society, composed of many doctors, nurses, and missionaries and business people, and they are caring for the wounded in the safe shelter of the concessions. Mr. Maslin went four days ago to join them.

"We have been informed that all that remains of our home is the walls, and that part of the walls of the church have been knocked down. It will be hard to cumulated, but when I think of our loss I also think of the poor Chinese and what they lost. I am glad Mr. Maslin is in Hankow, and is safe there in the concessions.

"I do not know any more up-to-date, except that one-half and more of China is rebel and the Emperor has fled to small as his small self, of having many imperial days."

WORK FOR BATTLESHIP.

VALLEJO, Dec. 4.—The Vallejo Trades and Labor Council has appointed E. J. Freudenberg, Andrew Gilmour and L. B. Congressmen Knowland has been requested to introduce a bill at the coming session of Congress providing for the construction.

ADMINISTRATION SKATING ON THIN LEGISLATIVE ICE

Apportionment Fight May Split Majority in Both Houses

(By W. P. DeWOLF.)

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 4.—Extraordinary session will be no misnomer for the present session of the legislature if signs and portents count for anything, as it is by no means improbable that two and possibly more of the so-called administration measures will not result in enactment except under forced draft, and in the face of so strong an opposition that wide breaches, difficult to close, will develop in the ranks of the majority. In fact, there may be no majority by the time the reapportionment measure comes up for final reading and the House will be forced to defeat other measures by a vote of 67 to 0.

One arrow less in the quiver of the opposition to the free-text-book amendment is that of great expense for printing, a feathered barb which proved effective during the regular session. Discussion about the Capitol reveals a sentiment in favor of the printing to be done in the office of the State Printer. It is believed that this will minimize the expense feared by the opponents to the amendments.

CURRENT OF BITTERNESS.

Unquestionably the administration force is skating on a mighty thin ice, which may open and plunge them into deep and cold waters before the session is much farther advanced. A current of bitterness permeates the reapportionment battle, which may, under certain conditions, sweep to defeat other measures favored by the governor. Political prognosticators say there will be parous times in Senate and House before long, resembling those which marked some occasions during the last regular session. It will be remembered that certain little by-plays enlivened deliberations at that time. For instance, Assemblyman Mulhally was taken off a railway train by the sergeant-at-arms of the Assembly to clear the way for the legislative body instead of to that legislative body. During the all night deadlocked session of the Senate, it will be remembered that Senator Cassidy was missing, and the key was turned on his colleagues by the sergeant-at-arms as a precaution against further desertions.

Thus far during the session little has been accomplished in the way of committee work. The Hewitt bill to legalize Los Angeles registration, the Birdall bill to clear title to school lands, and the Boynton bill to give the State Board of Control power to place all advertising, have been reported out of the Senate Judiciary committee. In the Senate, bills covering advantages of the twenty-five subjects included in the governor's message have been introduced. The subjects yet to be touched upon by bills introduced into the Senate are presidential primaries, Stockton charter, Sacramento Charter, municipal water districts, highway engineers' initiative, and referendum, municipal parks, district school taxes and the recall. A number of these have, however, been introduced in the House, among them being that on presidential primaries by Young of Alameda, and the recall by Young of Alameda. The Senate apportionment committee meets this afternoon at 2 o'clock. The plans for the proposed changes in the senatorial and assembly districts of Alameda county, which provide for a new assembly district, will be presented to the committee by Senator Stetson. Tomorrow evening the educational committee will hold a public meeting in the Senate chamber to discuss the Shananhan free text-book amendment. Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock a public meeting is scheduled by the Senate and Assembly corporation committees, on the public utilities measure introduced by Senator Burnett of San Francisco, on the opening day of the session.

Opposition to the plan of supplying free text-books to the children of the public schools, has not appeared in the open, but Senator Shanahan, who introduced the proposed constitutional amendment in the Senate, and Assemblyman Smith of Alameda, who introduced the free-text-book amendment in the House, expect a hard fight to force its enactment. Both pressed the free-text-book matter to an issue at the regular session, Smith securing its passage in the House by a vote of 67 to 0.

TAFI CABINET WILL SAVE MILLIONS

Treasury Department Estimates Show Decrease of $21,283,921.

Total Amount Asked for Expense of Government Next Year Is $745,834,563.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—Estimates of the Treasury Department for running the government during the next fiscal year, submitted to Congress today, contemplate a saving of $21,283,921.43, as compared with the amount appropriated for the fiscal year 1911-12. The total amount estimated for all expenditures of government is $745,834,563, not including an appropriation for the Postoffice department, which is expected to be self-sustaining. The appropriations by Congress for the fiscal year aggregated $767,218,485.

Economy of government expense proposed is shown to be greatest in the estimates for public works, which are cut from $122,040,080 to $100,716,701, a decrease of $21,323,378. The Treasury department plans to handle appropriations for public buildings and grounds by means of a lump appropriation and for this purpose $3,000,000 is asked to be expended at the discretion of the secretary.

WILL CUT SAVING.

A note is attached explaining that to care properly for public buildings already authorized by special appropriations for further appropriations of $15,000,000 will be necessary. As members of Congress usually are very careful to secure definite assurance that buildings in their respective districts are to be provided for, the probability is that the $15,000,000 will be included in the appropriation bill finally passed which will cut down the apparent saving considerably.

Decreases are shown in the estimates submitted for the pension fund, conduct of the executive establishment and for the department of agriculture. Substantial increases, however, in estimates asked for the military and naval establishments offset the other savings.

For work on the Panama canal $45,500,000 is estimated, an increase of nearly $4,000,000 over the appropriation for the present year. This does not include expenses for fortification of the canal zone for which the estimates ask $70,640,950. Last year $3,000,000 was appropriated. Since military establishments have increased, an appropriation of $1,500,000 is asked for sea coast artillery. The total estimate for fortifications and other works of defense is $7,218,393, nearly $2,000,000 more than was spent this year.

NAVAL ESTIMATES.

Secretary of the Navy Meyer's estimates propose continuance of the two battleship naval program, although the estimates are $1,000,000 less than this year's appropriations, so far as increase of the navy is concerned. To continue work on the battleships and two cruisers with provisions for equipment, $24,323,473 is asked.

The estimates recommend the appropriation of $29,460,238 for the improvement of the rivers and harbors, about $500,000 less than the appropriations for the present year.

Postmaster General Hitchcock estimates it will cost him $269,938,463 to run the postal service next year. This is about $2,500,000 more than the department expended this year. An experimental postal service "by" airplane or other "devices," is also recommended by the Postmaster General and he wants $50,000 to spend in trying out the scheme.

RICHARDS CLAIMS HE IS INNOCENT

Declares He Will Bring Suit Against the Board of Pharmacy.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 4.—Clayton F. Richards, whose establishment was raided Saturday by the Pharmacy Board, and who, it was claimed, is the distributor of opium along the Pacific Slope, surrendered himself at police headquarters this morning. Through his attorney, W. E. F. Deal, he denies that he has been engaged in any illegal traffic in drugs, and protests his innocence of any wrong doing whatsoever, and hints at the possibility of a damage suit against the Pharmacy Board for raiding him, and bringing about his arrest.

He asserts that Richards was entirely within the law in selling opium, as a wholesale merchant, to retail firms and that he never sold it to individuals. Wholesalers are protected by the statute and are allowed to dispose of the drugs in large quantities to retail establishments and it is the latter who are regulated by the law and who are not allowed to sell the drug save on order from a regularly licensed physician or others entitled to purchase it.

AEROLANE WIRELESS.

MARE ISLAND, Dec. 4.—Chief Electricians G. S. Whitman and H. E. Morin will commence sending wireless messages from their aeroplane model at the yard here on next Wednesday. Experiments by the wireless board will not be conducted, however, before January.

WARRANTS OUT FOR 190 VOTERS

Ten Already Jailed on Charge of Illegal Registering in Los Angeles.

Accused Persons Include Both Men and Women; Election Tomorrow.

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 4.—Ten men arrested for fraudulent registration and 190 warrants out for men and women on the same charge, were features of the day before the municipal election, which will determine whether George Alexander, "Good Government" incumbent, or Job Harriman, Socialist candidate and formerly attorney for the McNamara brothers, shall be mayor of Los Angeles.

Of the ten men arrested two were released from the county jail on bail and all expected to be given an early arraignment before a justice of the peace. M. L. Sullivan, under arrest, came here recently from Ludlow, Nev., bringing with him, it was charged, a large number of friends. It was said that he registered himself and assisted his friends to follow his example. County officials said that when questioned Sullivan said he had forgotten why he registered, adding that he had been drinking since his arrival here.

Bryon C. Hanna, deputy district attorney, said he expected to have fully 100 persons, charged with having registered illegally, taken before him today. He stated that he would permit all to go free who could satisfy him that they had not committed fraud intentionally. He said the registration frauds might extend beyond the city limits.

The remaining one hundred warrants were to be placed in the hands of officers to be stationed near the polls tomorrow. If the persons named in the warrants tried to vote the plan was to arrest them.

CITY'S BONDS DECLARED VALID

New York Legal Firm Approves Oakland School and Auditorium Issues.

$1,659,900 Have Already Been Sold Pending Favorable Action.

Approval of the procedure in all its details in connection with the passage of the Oakland municipal bonds for school sites and buildings and the municipal auditorium has been given by Dillon, Thompson and Clay, the New York firm of bond attorneys employed by the city to pass upon the bonds. A telegram was received by City Attorney Ben F. Woolner this morning bringing the word that the bonds are stamped with the approval of the New York attorneys, whose approval establishes their value in the eastern market.

The bonds, amounting to $1,659,900, were sold at a premium a month ago to Halsey and Robbins, bidding jointly, and will now be delivered and the money turned over to the city treasury. Today was set for the delivery of the bonds and the city has placed them in the hands of the bidders, with the formal opinion from Dillon, Thompson & Clay. The money is now available for the school sites and buildings and for the preliminary work on the auditorium.

In the telegram from Dillon, Thompson & Clay, City Attorney Woolner is asked to forward copies of some signatures necessary to the complete record of the case, and when these have been vided a formal written opinion will be mailed from New York to the city council.

MOORE ONCE MORE GETS CONTINUANCE

Convicted Medium to Be Sentenced by Judge Wells on Wednesday.

H. Robert Sinclair Moore, the medium convicted in the criminal department of the Superior Court of robbing Walter Bentzen of $700 by means of spiritualism, was before Judge William S. Wells this forenoon for sentence, but Attorney George J. McDonough, his counsel, had the matter set over until Wednesday morning without opposition from the District Attorney's office. His reason for asking the continuance was that he desired to investigate newly discovered evidence further so that he could argue this phase of his pending motion for a new trial more intelligently.

If the motion for a new trial is denied Moore will be sentenced Wednesday morning. Whether or not he will appeal from the judgment remains yet to be determined by his counsel.

Plans to Enlarge University Campus

Associated Students Decide to Buy Land for New Cinder Path.

HAVE OPTIONS ON HILLEGASS TRACT

Removal of Hearst Hall and Other Buildings Will Be Necessary.

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA, Dec. 4.—Location of the proposed new athletic track on the Hillegass property east of California field, now occupied by Hearst hall and the bacteriological laboratory, has been decided upon by the executive committee of the Associated Students.

Permission to construct the cinder path on this tract, after that portion not belonging to the university has been purchased by the student body, will be asked at the next meeting of the board of regents.

The problem of a permanent location for the track has been troublesome for several years.

At a recent meeting of the Associated Students it was decided to purchase and convey the necessary land to the regents and to undergo the expense of moving and re-locating all buildings now on the land, grading the track and constructing temporary bleachers.

The students' petition will probably be considered by the buildings and grounds committee of the board of regents tomorrow.

TEMPORARY TRACK.

Last semester the executive committee instructed the graduate manager to build a temporary track on a site selected in Strawberry canyon, but as the site was ultimately to be used as a reservoir and the permission to use it merely temporary, the work was not commenced.

Because of divergent opinion on the subject, President Wheeler, at the close of last semester, appointed a commission to consider the problem of athletic fields in the future.

This committee consisted of Professor C. L. Cory, chairman, Regent City, Earl Warren, Regent City, Dr. R. I. Woolsey, James G. Schaeffer and Newton B. Drugg, Regent City.

Professor John G. Howard, university architect, Graduate Manager, Milton T. Farmer, Trainer, Walter Christie, W. V. Donahue and C. E. Higgins, the latter men being members of the class of 1911.

It was finally decided by the committee that the track should be located on the land now partially occupied by Hearst hall.

OBSTACLE FOUND.

An obstacle was found in the fact that the university does not own all the land which is needed, the property still in private hands being two on College avenue, one on Sylvan way and another at the corner of those two streets.

Options, however, were finally obtained on all the pieces and the student body plans are not to be carried out within less than three or four years, there will be time to improve the adjoining tracks and to build a new stadium.

The track, as provided for in the plans of the university architect, is to be 440 yds. long, 120 yds. wide and to be bounded by Bancroft way, College avenue, Sylvan way and the east bleachers of California field.

Adoption of the plan would concentrate the football, baseball, tennis and track sports on the south side of the campus.

The new stadium, which will be built in accordance with the permanent university plans, will be located near the corner of College and California.

The Hillegass property is the only available track site on or adjoining the campus.

'Mother' Is Perfect Blend Of Theatrical Necessaries

Goodman Play Is Expression of Greatest Love

Miss Margot Merriam, One-Time Oakland Actress, Returns

(By LEO LEVY.)

It was a mother herself who paid Jules Eckert Goodman's play its highest compliment, the other day, when she declared it was not written by a man. The delineation of feminine nature, as in "Mother," was not, this parent said, in the power of man. Which may be true of certain portions of the tearful comedy, but not of all as regards the moving theme of the thing.

Mother love is that which binds the play together, and if there is one thing a woman does not know, it is the component parts of this greatest of affections. She knows it is there, that she will sacrifice the world and hereafter if it impels, but the very unselfishness it creates precludes the knowledge of its ways and wherefore. It was a man's work to discover them.

It is cause for complaint that a greater crowd did not see "Mother" at the Macdonough last night. It is a play worth your watching, your laughter, your tears and a little study. Furthermore, it is worth the money you leave at the box office. It comes like a rainstorm in this heated period of problem plays and dramatized high life. It is of home and mother that it deals.

WETHERELL FAMILY.

In the family of Mrs. Catherine Wetherell, Miss Katie Putnam's "Mother," are two daughters, twins, and Will, the eldest, weaned away four years before the play opens, by an actress wife who has been married to her by the play's end.

Harry Chase, an old friend of the family, who has cared for the Wetherell estate; Harry Lake, who would join the circle at the altar, as Ardath's husband; Sam, Will's sister-in-law; and a servant complete a worthy cast of characters.

It is in the sewing room of the longings arms of his mother, after four years' absence, for a home for money, that the play opens. The mother, who has already owes unpaid interest, and when refused leaves his mother with a reproach that burns. And then is brought to the mother the news that Will is in the city. On the way to the city, a note for $10,000 her son has given his employers, with her endorsement.

FORGED SIGNATURE.

The signature is a forgery, but the mother swears it is her's and sets about for a way to make the note good. There is the estate, but Chase points out that the condition of the funds would mean practically the beggaring of every member of the family to make good the note. Unconsciously Mother casts about for an excuse to forfeit the finances of six that the beloved first love may be saved from a cell and she finds it in protecting the family honor. Here is nothing to condemn; the search for this excuse is no less mother love than the desire to save Will.

The actress wife deserts. Will when the money is gone and he comes back to find his mother's home in ruins. How that same Mother saves Walter from the vampire sister-in-law is told in one of the richest comedy scenes of recent years. Ardath's love for Harry Lake and the sacrifice she makes to save her sister's honor have her chance works up from something pathetic to an elopement, the comedy of which is overlooked for the sake of farce. The fighting career of the twins, admirably portrayed by Paul Kelly and Edith Perret is another occasion for rejoicing.

BLEND IS GOOD.

In fact, "Mother" is a wonderfully blended thing of pathos, human nature and the joy of living.

To Miss Putnam must be awarded the honors of the evening for her mother being a personage you are bound to love before the time comes to put on your wraps. If she verges on silliness for two minutes after her entrance, it is because of that stage technicality that demands raw comeliness. There is not another false note in her mother-song.

Mrs. Margot Merriam, who used to appear on Ye Liberty stage, has moulded a more than acceptable character out of Ardath, though perhaps she could sometimes have been aided with something more than a lengthy series of hysterical laughs.

To those others who are part and parcel of "Mother's" cast of characters, there is only to be said: The play is so well acted that it leaves nothing to be desired.

And once again we tell you that "Mother" is worth your tears, your laughter and your dollars.

SEARCH FOR GIRL TO SAVE A LIFE

Sister Dying Calls for Missing San Leandro Maid; State-Wide Hunt Starts.

State-wide search is being made for Miss Anna Costley, 17 years of age, to bring her to the bedside of her sister, Mrs. Neva Raynos of San Leandro, in the hope of saving the woman's life. The police have been asked to join in the search.

Until a year ago the girl lived with Mr. Raynos, but becoming disinterested at home she started out to make her way in the world. She has not been heard from since. Mrs. Raynos is now hovering between life and death, and physicians declare that a sight of her sister, for whose life she entertains a great regard, would save, or, at least, prolong her life. Mrs. Raynos, during lucid intervals, calls constantly for her lost sister, and today relatives appealed to the police for assistance.

The missing girl is described as being five feet eight inches tall, weighing 130 pounds, having brown hair and blue eyes, and rather large mouth. She is a fine skater. She may be employed somewhere as a domestic.

They have not been heard from since, according to Ernest Hinman, Hotel Rex, this city, who today reported their disappearance to the police. They are supposed to be in this city.

When J. A. Pickens of 418 Eighth street, Oakland, left home on November 20 he informed his wife that he would be absent but one week. No word has been received from him since his departure and yesterday Mrs. Pickens asked the police department to aid in a search for him, saying that he had been the victim of an accident.

The Pickens is 51 years of age, 5 feet 9 inches tall, of sandy complexion, weighs 162 pounds, has dark hair and blue eyes.

HUSBAND MISSING.

Mrs. Walter Wagner, residing at 578 Seventeenth street, Oakland, yesterday notified the police department that her husband had failed to put in an appearance at home since Saturday morning. Wagner, who was connected with the circulation department of one of the San Francisco morning papers, was last seen while en route to that city to collect his salary.

German and English Capital Said to Be Behind Big Merger.

CAPT. J. N. HIBBARD CONFIRMS REPORT

Liner Buckman Makes Last Trip Under Colors of the Alaska Steamship.

What is probably the last run of the coast liner Buckman under the colors of the Alaska-Pacific Steamship company was ended with the arrival of the vessel at Long Wharf today. For the past few weeks rumors to the effect that a number of the large steamship companies of this coast had combined and formed a giant steamship company capitalized at a large sum. Yesterday these rumors were to effect that a number of N. Hibbard, port superintendent of the Pacific Coast Steamship company, who said that a new company made up of the Alaska-Pacific, Alaska Coast and North Pacific Steamship companies had been effected at a meeting of representatives of the different companies held Saturday afternoon at the Palace hotel.

Those who attended the meeting and affected the merger were: H. F. Alexander of Tacoma, president of the Alaska-Pacific and Alaska Coast Steamship companies; Captain C. P. Doe, president of the North Pacific Steamship company; Captain Frank Ward, formerly of the Ward line of New York, and Richard Saxe Jones of Seattle, former president of the Pacific Coast Steamship company.

According to Hibbard, all the papers connected with the merger were signed at the meeting and the company will make application for a charter in a few days. It is planned by the new company, which is backed by German and English capital, to increase the holdings of the three companies, which approximately are valued at $1,500,000, to a capital of $5,000,000. The company proposed by the new company to build a number of new vessels to engage in the coastwise trade, which will be finished by the opening of the canal in 1915.

Formerly the liners touched only at northern ports, but it is the intention of the new combine to begin building vessels for the southern trade of South and Central America. The vessels affected by the merger are the Roanoke, George W. Elder, Santa Clara, Kiburn, Yucatan and Eureka, owned by the North Pacific company; Buckman, Watson, M. F. Plant and Admiral Sampson, operated by the Alaska-Pacific Steamship company; and the Bertha and Jennie of the Alaska Coast Steamship company.

The Buckman reports a pleasant passage. She is discharging one car of grain, one of flour, one of beer and three of empty sacks and is picking up eight cars of merchandise for the northern ports of Puget sound.

For the first time in many months the big freight and passenger liner Captain Buckman, which is steaming to this side and laid at Long Wharf, where she is discharging 1000 tons of freight and picking up five cars of merchandise. The big vessel comes from Victoria and reports a rather rough passage, a severe northwesterly gale, but the steamer rode considerably. Two hundred passengers made the trip from the north. All of these were from Victoria, which is a small town. When the vessel docked on this side she was in charge of Captain Riley. She is scheduled to leave for the northern ports Tuesday.

FREIGHTER TIES UP.

The Kosmos Steamship company's big freighter, Hermonthis, Captain Blomberg, from St. Louis, arrived this morning, where she is discharging 800 tons of nitre. The big German liner comes from Hamburg via San Jose de Guatemala via Los Angeles, completing the long run in 80 days. West American port she picked up seven passengers, all of whom went ashore at San Diego. The Hermonthis reports an exceptionally fine passage, being fortunate enough to escape the fierce typhoons reported by other liners crossing the sea between this continent and Europe.

Captain William Osgood of the tug Dixie was the host on board the little vessel today, which was the last of his friends. The party cruised about the bay, going out beyond the heads and ending up by a run about the estuary. Luncheon was served at 11 o'clock and the members of the party did full justice. The party were again on dry land. Those who made up the party were Captain and Mrs. William Osgood, Jr., of Portland, Ore.; John Osgood of Oakland, Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Harris, Miss Helen Shaffer of Eureka, Cal.; Mr. and Mrs. J. Cox of Boston, Mass.; Mr. and Mrs. E. Cox of Oakland and Miss M. Martha Burt of Grafton, Neb. The little schooner Jennie and Edna was shifted to Long Wharf from the Oakland Launch and Tugboat company's gas tug Pirate.

SUCCESSFUL CATCH

After a most successful catch in the northern fisheries, the ship Amy Turner laid up in the mud off East Oakland today, which big vessel has been on the San Francisco side for the past few weeks discharging. She was towed in by the Red Stock company tugs Sea Fox and Sea Prince.

The steam schooner Acme, Captain Olsen, after uneventful passage from Eureka, laid at the Sunset Lumber company's wharf, where she is discharging 150,000 feet of lumber. On Monday freight at the California Transportation company's wharf this morning.

SOCCER LEAGUE RESULTS

The surprise of yesterday's soccer games was the defeat administered to the Pastimes at Alameda by the Barbarians, a team that has not been doing anything great this season. The Pastimes have nothing to excuse their defeat as the Barbarians won on their merits and showed much improved form over their previous appearances. They won by a score of 4 goals to 2.

The teams: Stevenson, goal; Lynch, Barbarians; McCaskie, left back; Williams, right half; Tyler, center half; Gloor, left half; Briggs, outside right; Elliott, outside left; Braden, center; Best, inside left; Hudson, outside left. Pastimes—Crowley, goal; Simpson, right back; Sharpe, left back; Haron, right half; Mizen, center half; McKiernon, left half; Aksham, outside right; Fay, inside right; James, center; Smith, inside left; Oulds, outside left.

By outplaying their opponents in the second half the Thistles won their game from the Vampires yesterday at the Presidio Athletic grounds. The game was one of the fastest played this year and brought back memories of the desperate struggles in which these clubs engaged last season.

SNAPS FINGERS AT SPANISH MONARCH

Infanta Eulalie Bids Adieu to Court When Book Is Criticised.

PARIS, Dec. 4.—The Temps prints the particulars of a right royal row between King Alfonso of Spain and his aunt, Infanta Eulalie, a princess with bold and unconventional views. The Infanta, who resides in Paris, received the following telegram from King Alfonso, dated from the palace at Madrid, December 2:

"I am astonished to learn from newspapers that you have published a book under the name of Countess Avila. I suppose this will cause a great sensation. I order you to suspend publication until I have taken cognizance of the contents and given my permission to publish."

"To this telegram, Eulalie replied: 'I am very sorry that my book should be judged without being read. It is a thing that could only happen in Spain.'

SENDS HER ADIEU.

"Never having a liking for court life from which I have always held myself, I take this opportunity to send you my adieu. For after this proceeding, which is worthy of the Inquisition, I consider myself, so far as my private life is concerned, free to act as I deem fit."

In communicating the telegram to the Temps, the Infanta declared vehemently that after the treatment of her son, who had shown great patriotic devotion in fighting in Morocco without the slightest recognition, this was the last straw. She had given orders for the sale of all her estates in Spain, she said, and would henceforth live in the greatest privacy.

"The book is an independent morality treatise and bears the title, 'The Thread of Life.' The preface is signed Eulalie Infanta of Spain."

SOUTHERN MISSION IS 125 YEARS OLD

Founding Celebrated Yesterday in Santa Barbara by N. S. G. W.

SANTA BARBARA, Dec. 4.—On the old Santa Barbara Mission steps, worn by thousands who have trod them during the past century, the 125th anniversary of the mission's founding was observed with extraordinary exercises yesterday.

The exercises had a deep religious tone, which marked both the addresses, music and general setting. The Mission fathers, in arranging the observance, were assisted by the Native Sons and Daughters of the Golden West.

Near the base of the broad steps a large cross, such as the early fathers always erected and blessed upon deciding the location of a new mission, had been erected. On the north side of the steps was constructed a ramada, at the rear of which was placed what is believed to be the first altar of the Santa Barbara Mission. Above the ramada was placed a rustic cross. From the cupolas fluttered American flags, while between and white and to either side of them the Spanish and Mexican flags.

Thousands of people witnessed the celebration and the intermittent sprinkling of rain did not seem to dampen the order of the Native Sons and Daughters from all parts of the state were present. The principal address of the afternoon was made by Father Superior Theophilus, who spoke on the history of the Mission. Judge Robert M. Ventura represented the Native Sons, being grand trustee of the state organization. An excellent musical program was also given.

SAN FRANCISCO LEADERS WILL GATHER AT FEAST

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 4.—Preparations for the initial banquet of the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce have been completed, and from the start it is believed that there will be nearly a thousand in attendance. The affair has been arranged for Wednesday evening in the court of the Palace Hotel.

H. M. Robbins Jr., president of San Francisco Chamber of Commerce, introduced John A. Erickson, "The Modern Chamber of Commerce"; Rollin C. Ayers, "Beneficial Community Advertising"; William H. McCarthy, "The New San Francisco."

SAILOR IS HELD UP.
SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 4.—While walking along the Embarcadero early yesterday morning, William Johnson, a sailor of lightship No. 70, was held up by armed bandits and robbed of two twenty-dollar gold pieces, with which he started to see the town.

Johnson reported the hold-up to Patrolman J. E. Holmes, but could give no description of the robbers.

ORPHEUM BILL IS CHRISTMAS STOCKING OF JOYOUS TOYS

MARION BENT, who is with Pat Rooney at the Oakland Orpheum this week.

(BY LEO LEVY.)

Inasmuch as modern originality consists not so much in doing new things but in accomplishing standbys in a new way, this week's Orpheum bill may be considered a Christmas stocking of pristine toys. If that appeals not at all to you, we will mention that Pat Rooney, Ed. Kennedy, Knute Erickson, the McGreevys, and Marie King are among those present. Not interested? Well, then, may we inform you that five of this week's acts were conceived for laughter only? Ah, we knew we'd sell you a ticket.

Pat Rooney is the liveliest chip that ever flew off an old stock. A true son of his father, he accomplishes much in as short a period as possible, with a result that he is a wonderful time-killer. A woman dodging automobiles. They liked Rooney and Marion Bent so much yesterday that the boy in the gallery was determined to bring them out for a seventh encore before he'd let the show go on.

But as Rooney said, the delay meant the act to come was getting better for the work he was doing, and the fellow upstairs understands the sorrow of that condition perfectly. And so they raised the drop on the act ahead after Rooney and his partner had created some 35 laughs with as lively a lot of nonsense and as clever a lot of stagecraft ever came over the vaudeville boulevard.

VERY OLD FRIEND.
Our very old friend, Knute Erickson, you remember him in his favorite attitude, sprawling on the floor of a Yon Yansen set after a fall through the ceiling—at any rate, Knute has returned in a couple of more character bits that are fairly meritorious and productive of much hilarity. Erickson "makes up" in full view of the audience, which is not a new thing, but a wonderful time-killer. An introduction to the man from London, a Swedish bit of near-pathos and a daffy character sketch that allows for a song or two, and a daffy little play, many is the sum and substance of Erickson's offering. He amuses and diverts and you'll be glad to greet him again after so many years.

Jack McGreevy's rural gladness is the happiest character work you expect to hold an inquest over for some time. It would be interesting to know in just what corner of the earth exists this variety of happiness that answers every description gained from books, country correspondence and letters from summer boarders. It's a quiet act that allows for a song or two, and a daffy little play, many is the sum and substance of McGreevy's offering. He amuses and diverts and you'll be glad to greet him again after so many years.

WONDERFUL DANCER.
Mazie King, a wonderful to-dancer, exhibits her prowess in a stage setting that lacks the touch of an artist. She would say that a scenic expert designed the set and she is a painter did the rest. It is occasion for grief that the terpsichorean interpretation of the following story, "The Legend of Spring," should have to offset the drawbacks of a painted blotch.

On the first spring morn at the break of dawn the prince comes to the magic spring to look for the "Loving Eyes" and the face of his Lady Fair. On the water finding her he avows his love. She doubts and coquettishly bids him leave. The gods have sent the prince to the nymph, they are angry and in actions sufficient punishment has been meted out. The prince returns and wins the heart of the nymph.

REYNARD THE VERSATILE.
A versatile ventriloquist is Ed. Reynard and a hard worker. He returns to Oakland with his "Mormon" in Hicksville, and we really believe he has added another member to the already large stage family he has to speak for. Lan-ton-Lucifer company may be asked as worth their salary as long as they keep away from the hackneyed. It is when they abide by things we grew tired of a year ago that we fall to appreciate their talent.

George Keane, a new tenor, made his first appearance with "The Courtiers" yesterday and needs only to accustom himself to new surroundings that he may be proclaimed a fitting addition to a

HIGH SCHOOL WILL TRAIN GIRLS TO SELL GOODS

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Dec. 4.—To enable girl employees of department stores to get more pay by making them more efficient, is the aim of W. M. Painter, principal of the Central high school here, in establishing a course of dry goods salesmanship, as a feature of the school. Evening classes of girls begin the work tonight with Miss Elsie H. A. Virgin, from Boston, as instructor.

"Already we have promises from the department stores," Painter said, "that students in the class who may convince us of their proficiency, will be given positions which pay much more than the usual wages for a dry goods clerk."

SAVED HIS WIFE'S LIFE.

"My wife would have been in her grave today," writes O. E. Brown of Muscadine, Ala. "If it had not been for Dr. King's New Discovery. She was down in her bed, not able to get up without help. She had a severe bronchial trouble and a dreadful cough. I got her a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery, and she soon began to mend, and was well in a short time." Infallible for coughs and colds, it's the most reliable remedy on earth for desperate lung trouble, hemorrhages, laryngitis, asthma, whooping cough and whooping cough. 50c, $1.00. Trial bottle free. Colds Caused by Uneven Temperature

While the matter has seldom been given serious thought in that direction before, a temperature, low in one hour and high in another, is more productive of colds and the resultant ailments therefrom than through almost any other cause.

A woman will be working in a room and let the fire die down, and not until she begins to notice the cold does she arise and start the fire again, and then in a few minutes the fire is burning briskly, and the room becomes overheated, and in a short time, where wood is used, the fire is down again and the room is cold. What is the result, with that condition happening a dozen or more times a day, particularly during this season of the year, when the weather is cold?

Hothouses, where plants are kept, have an even temperature all the time. If a nurseryman was so careless to keep the temperature varying from hot to cold, and vice versa, as often as some homes are kept that way, it would not be many hours before all the plants would be dead.

A good coal, after it is started burning brightly, should keep the room at an even temperature for a long time, only an occasional shovelful of coal put on the fire being necessary to prevent its going lower.
